SELECT JURY FOR SHARRAH TRIAL

Murder Case not Taken up until Afternoon Session of Court. Morning Occupied by other Current Business.

Regular term of January court convened at 10:30 this morning with the attendance much larger than usual, due to the interest in the trial of Oliver Sharrah for the murder of Peter I. Deardorff. An especially large number of men from the section above Cashtown, near the scene of the crime, were present to hear the proceedings. Nearly every person in that part of the county is acquainted with the defendant or knew the victim personally.

The whole of the morning period was occupied with the returns of constables, the Court's charge to the grand jury and the presentation of various petitions. The grand jury had made no return by 11:30 when current matters were disposed of and the session was adjourned until 1:30 this afternoon.

There were three reports of illegitimate children among the constables' returns and some minor repairs designated for bridges. Roads were reported bad in all sections of the county, due to the rains and alternate freezing and thawing of the past week or more.

The case of Oliver Sharrah was then taken up this afternoon. District Attorney Topper, John D. Keith Esq. and William Hersh Esq. appeared for the Commonwealth, and Hon. George J. Benner and J. Donald Swope Esq. appeared for the defendant.

Mr. Benner moved to quash the array of jurors and continue the case on the ground that one John D. Krug was summoned as a juror and that there is no one of that name, but that there is a John E. Krug. Mr. Krug was sworn as a witness and testified that his name is John E. Krug, that he is a farmer of Oxford township, and that there has been no other John Krug in Oxford township for thirty years. The motion was over-ruled and the process of picking the jury was continued to the time of going to press.

The following current business was transacted: Election of Margaret S. Cronise, widow of Andrew F. Cronise, deceased, not to take widow's exemption and to accept the provisions of the will.

Petition of Max Daxis, of Baltimore, Maryland, to have Howard J. Hartman make a sheriff deed to him for the property on York street, Gettysburg, sold by George R. Thompson, late sheriff, and a writ as the property of Guy A. Mundorff. Petition granted. Petition of James W. Mauss, of Butler township, to have Sheriff Hartman make a sheriff deed to him for a piece of land in Straban township, sold under a writ by George R. Thompson, late sheriff, as the property of Jesse C. Shaffer. Petition granted.

The report of N. S. Heindel, auditor, appointed to audit the offices of the Prothonotary, Clerk of the Courts and Register and Recorder was presented to the Court and ordered filed.

A true bill was returned against Howard Dill on the charge of false pretense.

The widows' exempt list of Elizabeth Cooley, widow of Samuel Cooley, late of Menallen township, was approved by the Court and ordered to be filed.

BADLY BURNED RESULT OF JOKE

Friend Holds Lighted Match to Gasoline Soaked Coat of Lester D. Sell at Littlestown. Flesh Burned to the Bone.

Lester S. Sell, an employee of the Littlestown Garage Company, had his arm burned so severely on Sunday afternoon that he will be incapacitated for an indefinite period and he narrowly escaped more serious injury, as the consequence of a "joke" by friends.

In working on a car during the morning the sleeve of Sell's coat became saturated with gasoline and he went to Staveland's restaurant for lunch without changing the garment. A number of his friends were in the place and one of them remarked in a joking spirit, "It would be a good plan to set you on fire."

Suiting the action to the word the young man lighted a match and held it against the sleeve. The gasoline ignited at once and burned the coat sleeve to shreds. Sell's arm was a mass of burned flesh from the hand to the elbow before the flame could be extinguished. At several places the muscle was burned to the bone.

Dr. H. S. Crouse was immediately summoned and it is thought the arm will not have to be amputated although Sell will not be able to resume employment for some time.

WHAT ONE SCHOOL DID

Prize Money Helped here. According to the Teacher.

A source of considerable satisfaction is the letter printed below. It is from the teacher of one of the schools that took part in 'The Times' subscription offer during the latter part of November. It is a satisfaction to 'The Times' to know it was of help to the school and a satisfaction as well to know that the effort to help the school was appreciated. The letter tells what they did with the money.

"We wish to thank you very much for our prize money with which we bought a large Webster's dictionary, a set of Geographical Readers containing six books and ten other books of benefit for school use.

"We don't know how we got along without them, as they are in use every day. We certainly appreciate them. Sincerely, (Teacher's name)"

PASTOR ELECTED FOR TOWN CHURCH

Trinity Reformed Congregation Elects New Minister. Good C. E. Meeting at St. James on Saturday.

Rev. Paul R. Pontius, of Butler, Pa., was elected pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of Gettysburg, at a congregational meeting held Sunday morning. Mr. Pontius' election was almost unanimous, there were but two dissenting votes from a total of nearly 180 cast.

As was previously announced in The Times, Mr. Pontius is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall and is at present engaged in post graduate work at the Union Theological Seminary in New York City. He occupied the pulpit of the church here a short time ago and made an excellent impression upon the congregation. He will take the place of Dr. T. J. Barkley, who resigned and is now pastor emeritus.

Mr. Pontius is unmarried and is expected to assume his new duties in the latter part of May. He has not yet accepted the call but it is thought that there is little doubt about his coming here.

C. E. MEETING

Delegates from all over the county were in attendance at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor societies held in St. James church on Saturday evening. State Secretary H. B. Macrory and D. A. Poling, a prominent Ohio worker addressed twenty representatives of other societies in addition to a large gathering from town.

Charles C. Culp, president of St. James Christian Endeavor Society, introduced Mr. Macrory who delivered a practical Christian Endeavor talk. Rev. C. F. Floto, of Biglerville, introduced the main speaker of the evening, Daniel A. Poling, who addressed the meeting on "The Grip That Holds." The meeting was closed with a re-consecration service and a benediction by Rev. F. C. Sternat, pastor of the Lutheran churches at Abbotstown and East Berlin.

On Saturday afternoon the Advisory board were entertained together, with the speakers of the evening by a luncheon at the Pitzer House. At a business meeting, the president of the Fairfield district, Roy W. Bream, was presented. The Pennsylvania State Bulletin will issue an Adams County edition for April and Mr. Macrory will visit Gettysburg in the interest of this issue some time next month.

REVIVAL SERVICES

Good Attendance Sunday. No Services Monday Evening.

A large attendance was reported for the revival service at the Methodist church Sunday evening. The features of the service were singing by a large choir, songs from a mixed quartette and a strong appeal by the pastor, which resulted in one conversion, two decisions and sixteen requests for prayer.

There will be no services to-night but they will be continued on Tuesday evening at 7:30. A cottage prayer meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon at the home of E. C. Williams, 45 Spangler avenue.

CONTEST SOCIAL

St. James Christian Endeavor Society will Entertain.

On Tuesday evening, the St. James Christian Endeavor Society will entertain its members and friends at a contest social, in the social rooms of the church.

WARM SPELL MAY INJURE THE FRUIT

Grower Says Warm Weather Makes Buds Expand too soon and as a Consequence they will be Frozen.

The warm spell of yesterday caused much complaint on the part of some people while others appeared to be pleased with the turn of the temperature. Perhaps many of those that are so joyous will be less optimistic in the next few days.

The mutterings are coming from fruit growers all over the country. If the temperature of yesterday does not fall considerably within a short time, the fruit crop will be seriously injured. This statement came from a prominent fruit grower of the county last night. A spell of weather, such as was experienced yesterday for a duration lasting over 48 hours will cause the buds on fruit trees to swell and when the cold spell which is sure to follow later, arrives, they will be caught and frozen. The weather man's predictions are very unfavorable, but they cannot always be depended upon.

The optimistic person yesterday was the one who promenaded the streets without an overcoat and basked in the sun. Perhaps when the gripe gets its grip on him, he will be more pessimistic.

"Yesterday's weather is the most dangerous of any variety," stated a well known physician last night. Grippe has already been playing havoc with people in this county and just when physicians believed that it would be driven out by the cold spell, more warm weather comes. Yesterday's weather is a breeder of pneumonia germs, and the public should take warning.

SUPERVISORS, NOTICE

Court Decision Says You Can't Charge for Teams.

That road supervisors may not charge for the hire of their teams in any way in connection with their road work was an important decision made by Judge Ryan in an opinion handed down in the Common Pleas Court in Bucks County.

The case came up on an appeal of the supervisors, William C. Becker, Robert Johnson and J. K. Cornell, from the report of the auditors of Southampton surcharging them in the amount of $275.95, which they had charged for the use of their own teams in connection with their official duties.

The court's decision dismisses the appeal and enters judgment against the supervisors for the amount with which they are surcharged.

WANT INCREASED FARES

Western Maryland Officials Attend Hearing in West Virginia.

Officials of the Western Maryland Railway Company are at Charleston West Virginia, to-day to appear before the Public Service Commission of West Virginia to present arguments in favor of the petition filed with the commission by the railway company asking for the right to increase passenger fares in that State from 2 to 3 cents a mile.

This is the second hearing granted the representatives of the railway company. About a month ago, when the petition was filed, the Western Maryland men appeared before the members of the commission and presented facts as to why higher passenger fares in West Virginia should be granted.

MANY DEATHS OVER SUNDAY

Aged People Taken in all Sections of the County. Young Gettysburg Man Dead. Frequent Visitor to town Expires.

MRS. CHARLOTTE KUMP

Mrs. Charlotte Kump, wife of Amos Kump of near Cashtown, died after a brief illness at her home on Saturday. Her age was 78 years, 2 months and 26 days. She contracted gripe during the early part of the week which developed into pneumonia and caused her death.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a brother, Harrison Brough, of Franklin township; two step daughters, Mrs. Bright Cook and Mrs. Minnie Showers; also by six grandchildren.

Mrs. Kump was a lifelong resident of the community in which she died. Her former home was one of the oldest houses in this section, having been erected more than 100 years ago.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Friends and relatives are asked to meet at the house and services will be conducted by Rev. T. C. Hesson at the Cashtown Reformed church. Interment will be made in the cemetery at Flohr's church.

LOUIS J. CLUNK

Louis J. Clunk, of near McSherrystown, died from a complication of diseases at his home early Sunday morning. Mr. Clunk had been engaged in farming in Conewago township, and was aged 68 years, 9 months and 13 days.

He was a son of the late Joseph and Catherine (Lawrence) Clunk, and was married to Miss Sarah Fleischman about 43 years ago. She survives him together with the following children: Felix, John and Louis, residing at home; Joseph, of Hanover; Miss Mary Clunk, at home; also by three brothers and sisters: George, John, and Joseph, Mother M. Antonette, of St. Joseph's convent at Philadelphia, Mrs. H. V. Lilly, of McSherrystown, Mrs. Frank Fenner, of Hanover, and Mrs. A. W. Eckenrode, of Emmitsburg.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday with a high mass of requiem in St. Mary's church. Rev. Fr. L. Augustus Reudter will officiate and interment will be made in the Sacred Heart cemetery at McSherrystown.

THOMAS ZIEGLER

After an illness of about one week Thomas Ziegler died late Saturday night at the home of his son, John W. Ziegler, in Latimore township. He was aged 88 years, 10 months and 17 days.

Mr. Ziegler is survived by his son, John W. Ziegler, of near York Springs; two daughters: Mrs. Anna D. Hart and Mrs. J. J. Weigle, both of Carlisle. Two brothers: John and Joseph Ziegler, of Mt. Holly; thirteen grandchildren and eight great grandchildren also survive.

Rev. P. H. Gladfelter, of York Springs, will conduct services at the house at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The interment will be at Sunnyside cemetery.

LUCIAN HELTZEL

Lucian Heltzel, of near New Oxford, died Sunday evening at his home from the effects of cancer from which he had long been a sufferer. He was aged about 63 years and had been a resident of Mt. Pleasant township, this county, all of his life, being one of the best known farmers in that section.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Jane Trone, and the following children: Mrs. Annie Bender, of Mt. Rock; Mrs. Nettie Noel, George and Wade Heltzel, all of York; and Kirvy Heltzel. He is also survived by one brother, Edwin Heltzel, of Mt. Pleasant township.

BENJAMIN SWIFT

Benjamin Philip Swift, an invalid son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Swift, died at the home of his parents on Buford avenue, Saturday evening. He was 24 years, 7 months, and 22 days old. In addition to his parents, three sisters, Edna, Amy, and Edith, survive him.

The funeral was held with private services at the house at 2:30 Monday afternoon and interment made in Evergreen Cemetery.

Many Free Packages Being Given Away by Druggists

New Vapor Treatment That Comes in Salve Form. Applied Over Throat and Chest the Body Heat Releases the Ingredients in the Form of Vapors.

Better Than Internal Medicines. Relieves Colds Over Night, Croup in Fifteen Minutes.

No one knows better than the skilled druggist, the dangerous character of most cough and cold preparations. To produce results, these remedies must contain some form of narcotic or some one of the coal tar products. These drugs are injurious to the stomach, especially to the delicate stomachs of little children. In order to acquaint their customers with the Southern method of treating croup and cold troubles externally, the local druggists have been giving away 25c jars of Vick's Vap-O-Rub, recently introduced here from the South. If you have not yet received your free package, present the coupon below to your druggist immediately, as the free supply with each dealer is limited. Vick's Vap-O-Rub is the discovery of a druggist in a little North Carolina town. He found how to combine Menthol and Camphor with the volatile oils of Eucalyptus, Thyme, and Clove.

bebs, and Juniper, in salve form, so that, when applied to the throat and chest, the body heat would release the ingredients in the form of vapors.

These vapors are inhaled, with each breath, all night long, loosening the phlegm and opening the air passages. In addition, Vap-O-Rub is absorbed through the skin, taking out the tightness and soreness. For all forms of cold troubles, from head colds and catarrh, down to sore throat, bronchitis or deep chest colds, it will be found much better than internal medicines. In addition, it is a delightfully soothing and cooling application for surface inflammations or muscular soreness.

COUPON NO. 7—

Good for one 25c package of Vick's Vap-O-Rub Salve free, as long as the free supply lasts. If your druggist has given away all his free packages, try a jar on 30 days trial.

For Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Coughs And Colds

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 Cents

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as The People's Drug Store are selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectantant, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say: "Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of its manufacturer or on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, because 50c worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at home with simply one pint of sugar and one-half pint of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine, or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schiffmann's famous Asthmador of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schiffmann, Proprietor, St. Paul, Minn.

AVIATOR SHELLS BRITISH COAST

Drops Bombs on Kent on Moonlight Night.

ONE KILLED, SEVEN INJURED

The German War Office Announces Important Gains in Fighting Near Neuville.

London, Jan. 24.—The British war office announced that, taking advantage of the bright moonlight, a hostile aeroplane swept over the east coast of Kent at one o'clock Sunday morning.

After dropping nine incendiary bombs in rapid succession the aeroplane disappeared out over the North sea. Neither naval nor military damage was done, but private property suffered, the incendiary bombs causing several fires, all of which were extinguished within an hour.

One man was killed and two men a woman and three children were injured.

A challenge to the German fleet to come out into the North sea and fight was the answer of the British navy to the report that new German dreadnoughts, armed with seventeen-inch guns, were preparing to lead the Kaiser's fleet out from Heligoland to dare British sea power.

A young naval officer at one of the bases for the English fleet expressed the sentiment of all his comrades when he said:

"The German high sea fleet can choose the day, the hour and the place of battle if they will only come out and fight."

Berlin Reports Artillery Gains.

Berlin, Jan. 24.—Capture by the Germans of an allied position 250 yards long, to the north of Arras, was announced by the German war office in a statement, the text of which follows:

"Near Neuville, north of Arras, the Germans after successful mining operations occupied an advanced position of the enemy 250 yards long, and captured seventy-one Frenchmen."

"In the Argonne the Germans occupied a section of a trench after a short engagement with hand grenades. Military establishments east of Reims were bombarded."

Belgium Deaf to Overtures.

Washington, Jan. 24.—It was made apparent here that Mr. Haveth, the Belgian minister, has no faith in the ability of Germany to make a separate peace with Belgium.

Mr. Haveth was asked for his opinion on the reports that German might make peace overtures to Belgium, but on the ground that all reports as yet were unofficial he declined to discuss them.

However, it was evident from his manner that if his government shares his views Germany will find it a difficult problem to approach Belgium with any terms whatever.

AUSTRIA TAKES TWO PORTS

Antivari and Dulcigno Occupied, Vienna Report Declares.

London, Jan. 24.—The Austrians have occupied the Adriatic seaports of Antivari and Dulcigno, according to the official Austrian communication.

"The disarming of the Montenegrin army, which is a preliminary condition for further peace negotiations, is proceeding," the statement says. "For this purpose the Austro-Hungarian troops, refraining from all hostile acts, have begun a march into the interior."

"The Montenegrin soldiers, when meeting our detachments, must surrender. If they surrender without offering resistance, they will be allowed to retain their villages and resume their civilian occupations. Those of offering resistance will be forcibly destroyed or marched off as prisoners of war."

LANES IN RUNAWAY

Secretary and Wife Shaken Up When Carriage Hits Lamp Post.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Secretary Lane, of the interior department, and Mrs. Lane were badly shaken up when the horse-drawn carriage carrying them smashed the vehicle into a lamp post and dragged it half a block down a sidewalk.

The runaway ended when the horses became entangled in the harness and fell.

Missing Man in Serbian Army.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 24.—A picture of a soldier in the Serbian army published in the current number of Leslie's Illustrated Weekly, has been identified as that of Major Roland D. Crocker, lawyer, who disappeared a few years ago leaving his affairs and certain trust mortgage funds that were in his care in a tangled state. The picture was taken at Monastir.

Turkey May Admit Sinking Persia.

ELECTROCUTION OF TWO IS DELAYED

The Execution Postponed Until Later in Week.

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 24.—George H. March and Roland S. Pennington, under sentence of death for the murder of S. Lewis Pinkerton, of Delaware county, did not go to the death chair today.

The electrocution has been postponed until later in the week, probably Wednesday or Thursday.

Men who were summoned to sit as a jury have been notified not to appear until again summoned. No reason has been made public.

This is the first time an electrocution has been postponed under the new law.

Governor Brumbaugh's office in Harrisburg said that no respite had been granted. In all electrocution cases the warrant authorizes infliction of the penalty during the week beginning a certain day. In the March and Pennington case the recent respite stayed the execution until the week beginning January 24. Under this the warden can electrocute any time during the week.

March's mental condition has been the subject of many rumors. It was stated at the pardon board hearing that he had shown signs of being demented and reports have been in circulation that he was violent while in the Media jail before being removed to the penitentiary. These have not been confirmed.

TURKS BEAT OFF BRITISH

Relief Expedition, in Desperate Fight, Fails to Take Trenches.

London, Jan. 24.—Heavy fighting occurred on Friday between the British army, that is attempting to reach Kut-el-Amara, in Mesopotamia, and the Turks.

The battle took place at Essin, seven miles from Kut-el-Amara. The British were unable to drive the Turks from their positions. The purpose of the British is to rescue the original expeditionary force, which has been surrounded at Kut-el-Amara by the Turks.

The following official statement on the Mesopotamia campaign was given out:

"Sir Percy Lake (the new commander in Mesopotamia), reports that General Allmer attacked the Turkish position at Essin on Friday. Fierce fighting continued through the day, with varying success. The weather throughout was atrocious, a pouring rain rendering movements of troops extremely difficult."

"The weather continued very bad, with incessant rain. No details regarding the casualties have been received, but they are reported to have been very heavy on both sides."

Warships Convoy British Liner.

New York, Jan. 24.—Renewed activity of German submarines off the British coast in the lane of liners impelled the British admiralty to send out three torpedo boats with the White Star liner Cymric, in from Liverpool. The liner gave the trio a parting salute when she was 100 miles at sea. She changed her course in compliance with warnings.

Boy Saves Friend From Drowning.

Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 24.—William Malone, aged eight, was saved from drowning by the heroism of Oliver McGeady, another boy. Malone ventured on this ice on the Lehigh canal and broke through. He went down twice, when McGeady appeared on the scene and plunged in and effected the rescue.

ONE OF THEM CONFESSED

The Cattle Rustlers Who Slew Bert Akers Face a Firing Squad Near Juarez.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 24.—Swift punishment was meted out to the Mexican cattle rustlers who murdered Bert Akers on Friday afternoon at the Mexican village of San Lorenzo, twelve miles east of Juarez, according to General Gabriel Gaviro, commander of the Juarez garrison, who announced that Bernardo and Frederico Duran, the men who confessed to the killing, had been summarily executed in Juarez.

The execution, he said, took place at the Juarez cemetery. The Duran brothers, who were natives of New Mexico, had been in the Juarez jail since the killing. Instead of letting the civil courts handle the affair, General Gaviro presented the testimony in the case to a military tribunal on Saturday afternoon, and the verdict was death for the two men.

Before the verdict was returned the Juarez judge of letters, the civil official who ordinarily would have handled the case, was given an opportunity to read the testimony and judgment of the military court was approved.

A regulation military execution squad sent the murderers to their grave in the fashion approved all over Mexico. Hanging is unknown in the Mexican republic, and a man sentenced to death is invariably shot. It is believed that this summary action will put an effective quietus on depredation in this section by cattle "rustlers" from the other side of the border.

Douglas Downs, survivor of the attack by Mexican cattle thieves in which his companion, Akers, was killed, declared that he had gone to Juarez in the afternoon and saw Bernardo Duran, the man said to have confessed the killing, and that Duran was not the man who pursued him and Akers.

"They let me see only Bernardo Duran, saying that he was the man who confessed having killed Bert," said Downs, "but I am convinced he was not the man who pursued us on Bert's horse and shot at me and killed Akers."

MINE FATALITIES DIFFER

Three Per Cent Fewer in Anthracite Mines, More in Bituminous.

Harrisburg, Jan. 24.—Fatal accidents in the anthracite mines of Pennsylvania in 1915 were three per cent less than in 1914, and six per cent greater in the bituminous field, the latter being due to two explosions, which cost twenty-eight lives.

These figures were made public by the state department of mines, which received official reports showing 583 killed in the anthracite field, against 600 in 1914, and 438 killed in bituminous mines, against 413 in 1914.

The state now has twenty-five anthracite mine inspectors and thirty bituminous inspectors, increases having been made last year.

COUPLE DEAD IN GARAGE

Bride Sits in Car, Husband Stands Beside It; Both Dead.

Altoona, Pa., Jan. 24.—Married less than a week, a Bellefonte couple met tragic death when about to start on an automobile ride from their home.

The couple, William Noll, proprietor of juney auto service, and his wife, it is believed, were killed by escaping gasoline fumes from the car they were about to use. The bodies were found in the garage located in the rear of their home. Physicians stated that they had been dead about nine hours and had smothered to death.

Mrs. Noll was sitting in their automobile, and the husband was standing alongside the car, leaning over the door.

Society Women as Strike Pickets.

New York, Jan. 24.—Four hundred Division street strikers were out Sunday from nine A. M. until long past dark, announcing that the sellers in the cloak and suit houses were striking, and asking sympathy for their cause. Mrs. Amos Pinchot and Mrs. J. Sergeant Cram, arrived in the latter's auto about five o'clock, and joined the pickets.

Coal Company Bans Liquor.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 24.—Notice has been sent to all the salaried employees of the Hudson Coal company that any of them seen entering a saloon or leaving one, or any known to be addicted to intoxicating drink, or whose record for sobriety will not bear the strictest investigation, will not be retained in the service of the company.

Had $3500 and Starved to Death.

New York, Jan. 24.—John Cuneo, a bootblack, was found dead in his room at 11 Washington street. In his clothes were bank books showing he had saved over $3500. His death was due to insufficient nourishment, showing that he had starved himself rather than draw on his savings.

$167,000,000 IN PENNA. LIVE STOCK

Report Shows Total of 4,230,000 Head in State.

Harrisburg, Jan. 24.—Live stock on Pennsylvania farms was worth $167,843,290 on January 1, according to a summary of township reports issued by the state department of agriculture. The statement covers every county in the state and shows a total of 4,230,000 head.

The number of horses is given at 296,000, which is believed to be considerably less than a year ago, because of the heavy shipments to Europe on account of the war. One estimate is that fully 50,000 horses have been sent from this state to the countries at war. The horses on the farms are rated at $72,116,000, an average of $121 a head.

Figures on other live stock are: Cattle, 1,600,000, valued at $5,888,000, an average of $36 per head; milch cows, 955,000, valued at $32,836,000, worth $35.00 per head; other cattle, 644,000, valued at $18,676,000, sheep, 806,000, valued at $1,352,000, worth $1.50 per head; hogs, 1,188,000, valued at $12,943,200, an average of $11.80 per head.

The condition of wheat and rye in the ground is given as ninety-seven per cent of an average.

PAYS $140,000 FOR PAINTING

American Purchases Last Week of Famous Flemish Artist.

New York, Jan. 24.—Hans Memling, "The Archer," said to have been the last work of the great Flemish painter left in the art galleries of the world has been bought for $140,000 by a Fifth avenue jeweler, it has been learned.

"The Archer" is a portrait of a young man, painted on a wooden panel, ten by twelve inches. The head and part of the coat only are shown. The portrait, considered one of Memling's finest, was painted in 1473, when the artist was at the height of his power.

FINDS TOOTH A LIFE-SAVER

It Stops Bullet Fired into a Young Woman's Mouth.

Chester, Pa., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Angelina Paele, twenty-five years of age, who lives at Lepperville, had a remarkable escape from being killed when a revolver that Clementine Moecla was handling was accidentally discharged. The bullet struck her in the mouth, knocking out one tooth and tearing away part of her upper lip. She was taken to the Chester hospital for treatment, but is suffering more from shock than from serious injury.

FROM CHAMBERSBURG

School Boys Need More Schooling if Story is True.

The value of the law compelling school attendance was incidentally illustrated in Chambersburg when four boys, well dressed, but likely without the necessary nickel to obtain admission, stood near the entrance of a picture show. Next door Justice of the Peace Haulman, who is also a school director, has his office. He said: "If any of you boys can tell me who was the victor at Waterloo I'll pay your way." They looked at him and then looked at each other.

"Grant," said one.

"Wrong," said the Squire.

The second boy declined to make a guess.

The third boy a Biederwolf graduate, and without offense said:

"Jesus?"

"No," answered Mr. Haulman, quietly.

"I know who it was," said the fourth.

"It was Robinson Crusoe."

They all got in, the Squire smiling a faraway grin.

Lawyer Steals Fifty Cents.

New York, Jan. 24.—Arthur A. Livera, a lawyer, pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing fifty cents from the clients of Smith, Doty & Weynbers, a law firm that employs him as chief clerk. The court suspended sentence, but said it would recommend his disbarment. Livera filed two agreements for extension of mortgages for which the fees were $3.25. He charged $3.75 and kept the half-dollar difference.

Workers Protect a Doe Elk.

Lewistown, Pa., Jan. 24.—A large doe elk was chased out of the mountains near here by a pack of mongrel dogs. The dogs were put to rout by a Pennsylvania railroad section gang, and after drinking from the river the animal stalked back into the forest with rare dignity.

NO STARVATION IN GERMANY IS SEEN

Merely Thought of Hunger Has Produced Existing Outcry.

NEVER WANT FOR ANY FOOD

German Stomach, Accustomed to an Overabundance, Is Being Improved by the Regulations—Prices Have Been Only Slightly Advanced—Eating About 15 Per Cent Less.

The German stomach is an imperious organ, very jealous of its economic rights, very touchy, accustomed to be overnourished. To trifle with its habits entails serious political consequences. For many years it has carried on a winning feud with those who speculate in its needs for private gain. And now it hates England and clamors for the vengeance of heaven not on account of anything it has suffered, which, according to German scientists, is no more than was good for it, but because England threatened to starve it. It really has never been hungry since the war began. If its condition had been at any time so uncomfortable as the world supposed it to be the war had then been ended, says a Berlin correspondent of the New York Times.

There is no scarcity of food in Germany actually. That is to say, there now is and has been always plenty to eat. There has been only too little of this or that, made up for by more than enough of something else. A deficit of grain is offset by an abundance of potatoes, a deficit of meat by an increased supply of fish, a deficit of fat by an abundance of honey, and so on. And as the war has now gone through two harvests, as conditions tend rather to improve than to become worse and as the surplus food production of Roumania, Bulgaria and Turkey now is added to the resources of Germany and Austria-Hungary, it is not easy to imagine how the German people are going to be starved. They are eating, statistically, perhaps 15 per cent less than they normally would and yet, perhaps, 10 per cent more than they need to eat. The case is somewhat better than the statistical statement would imply, since, owing to rigid methods of regulation, much waste of distribution is eliminated. A country that has normally produced about 85 per cent of its own food, suddenly cut off from its outside supplies, must be supposed to have a deficit of 15 per cent, but where formerly was waste and now is none the people will be able to consume 85 per cent of the normal amount plus the former waste, which now they also eat. That alone is a considerable factor, though it cannot be statistically expressed.

Meeting Kriegsbrötchen. On entering Germany for the first time since the war began one has certain disagreeable expectations. One feels the weight of much beautiful white Dutch bread consumed in Holland, camel fashion. Here are 65,000,000 people living on diminished rations. One is prepared to see their stomachs through their eyes and to be regarded oneself with envy as a well fed visitor from the outside world, where there is everything to eat. It is true that the color, texture and quality of bread change abruptly. At the frontier station is "Kriegsbrötchen" (war bread), brown, sliced very thin and a little soggy. On the walls are posters reminding travelers of their obligation to eat moderately in wartime. But the outlet is very good, the gray rich, the potatoes delicious, the coffee only Prussian, and the cost is, altogether 2 marks and 60 pfennigs—that is, about 75 cents. This is really not so bad, and a second scrutiny the people look not in the least undernourished. On the railway station counter are cakes and things like pie and ham and cheese and sausage and sandwiches. On the speisekarte, proceeding toward Berlin, the food is lighter. In the form of rolls, there is anything one wants to eat, including butter, and one begins to part with one's recollections of the last meal in Holland. At the hotel the next morning one receives with breakfast his daily bread card, but here the bread is really very good. It is a meatless day, the waiter tells you. For lunch there is sole and other fish, with plenty of potatoes and dairy things in sauce; but, of course, this is luxurious living. For dinner one goes to a popular restaurant to see what a meatless day is really like. There one has soured eggs, fried potatoes, string beans in sauce, and herring, with coffee and very palatable bread, for about 60 cents.

"Living," says the pro-German American resident, "is still cheaper in Berlin than New York, although prices have gone up about 30 per cent on the average. Here, for example," pointing it out on the bill of fare, "is a dish at 1 mark and 30 pfennigs that was formerly 1 mark; another at 1 mark 60 pfennigs that was 1 mark 20 pfennigs before, and so on down the list. Beer and wine have not gone up at all."

Coins Words to Describe Wife. Two brand new words were introduced by a young husband in a police court in Baltimore to describe his wife's attitude toward him, and though they are not in the dictionaries, the magistrate declared they were eloquent. One is "growlism" and the other "fussified."

Sickness and Destitution. While much attention has been recently given to the subject of accident prevention, yet accidents cause only about one-seventh as much destitution as sickness.

HUGHES' SILENCE WORRIES LEADERS

Looked on as Most Likely Choice of Republicans.

CANDIDATES IN THE SENATE

When Democrats Had Long List of Names to Choose From in Baltimore Not One Came From the Senate. Now All G. O. P. Possibilities Are Senators Except a Judge and Colonel.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—Four years ago when there were so many Democratic candidates for president none was from the United States senate, although two of the most promising possibilities. This year there are no candidates for president in the house on the Republican side, although there are several candidates and a number of possibilities in the senate.

And yet the impression seems to be that the Republican candidate will not be a senator. Something tells the average politician that the Republican choice will fall outside of the senate.

A Sphinx With Whiskers. Very seldom do cartoonists put whiskers on a sphinx, but it appears that the sphinx of the Republican presidential situation is ornamented with whiskers. "That animated feather duster," as William H. Hearst once remarked, and Hearst knew, for he ran against him for governor and was defeated, is giving Republicans a great deal of concern these days. If the associate justice of whom we hear so much does not break the silence pretty soon there is danger of some fellows blowing up.

Clark and Bryan. All there is to the story that Bryan would be likely to support Champ Clark in order to defeat Wilson for the nomination is the fact that one or two active Bryan men have been inquiring around to see if Clark could be induced to run against Wilson. They didn't even go so far as to offer Bryan support. Nor did they approach Clark with the proposition. One can readily imagine how much faith Champ would put in a Bryan proposition after his experience at Baltimore.

Oleomargarine in the Pot. "We have put everything into the pot," remarked a member of the ways and means committee. "We are going to put in everything which would seem to afford the possibility of taxation in order to raise money for war preparation. When the time comes we will sort out that which seems least burdensome to the people."

Among things which "have gone into the pot" is a proposition to reduce the tax on oleomargarine to a revenue producing point. At present it is prohibitive almost, but if it was simply taxed to get revenue it is estimated that $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 would be raised.

"We will have to drop it out," said the member. "Already the mere suggestion has raised a howl from the dairy districts, which shows that we could not pass it."

Williams' Belief in Wilson. It seemed almost impossible that John Sharp Williams should sound the tocsin that one man power is desirable, he who has discoursed long and eloquently on the beauties of democracy. Speaking of our foreign relations, he said:

"I am sorry that congress had to meet right now. I think that our diplomatic affairs would have been more wisely handled by a man of long vision and deep vision and tender vision than they are apt to be when they are made the game of a battle-dore and shuttlecock on the floor of the two houses."

The time was when Williams believed congress ought to have its say about the affairs of the nation.

Preparedness and Peace. It happened that there were two conventions for preparedness and a convention for peace and anti-preparedness going on at one big hotel in Washington. The sessions were being held at the same time. It was all the hotel employees could do to keep them from getting mixed and to steer the right people into the right place. We have our war troubles in Washington as well as elsewhere.

What's He There For? What does Jim Mann imagine he is authority leader for? Here is one of his utterances recently: "It is one of the peculiarities of politics that when the Democrats are short of other things they abuse the Republican leader. That is always safe. It never takes either acumen, intelligence nor any other attribute which naturally belongs to a member of congress."

Critic's Shining Mark. Senator Sherman unloaded this on the senate during a recent speech: "It is characteristic of the most prominent critics that their chief function is to criticize people who run for office and are sometimes successful in being elected. They become shining marks for the critics."

Mean Retort. Discontented Wife—"Several of the men whom I refused when I married you are richer than you are now." Husband—"That's why."—Boston Transcript.

BASEBALL DOPE ABOUT THE PLAYERS

Results of Statistics Compiled by League President. Chambersburg Players. What Gus Boyne has to Say.

According to a report just compiled at the instance of President Boyer of the Blue Ridge League, Gettysburg breaks even with Hagerstown for second place in fielding while Bigler holds the honors for base stealing. Howard has the record of having pitched more innings than any other pitcher and Plank played more different positions than any other man, having held down seven jobs during the year. Kane, another Gettysburg player, played at six different places and both he and Plank have high fielding averages.

Two hundred players took part in games of the different teams. Thirty of these played with more than one team during the season. Scherdel, the high school pitcher of the Hanover team, was the star performer. He took part in 23 games and had a batting average of .368, and a perfect fielding record. He is credited with 15 victories and 3 defeats, and is considered the marvel of the league.

Martinsburg had the record of being the best hitting team while Hanover held second place. Orrison, who took part in 77 games is considered the league's best hitter although his average of .341 is below that of Scherdel. Bigler's base stealing record was secured by making 38 steals in the 60 games he played. Mahaffie stole 32 bases in 63 games. Mackert and Starr, of Hanover, were also prominent in the base stealing business.

Chambersburg has Manager Hooper has the following players ready to sign contracts: Arthur H. Cramer, a star twirler of the shut-out variety, from the coal regions around Freeland, Penn.; S. J. (Sale), a pitcher formerly with Bucknell University and ranked among the foremost of college twirlers; "Boys" Snyder, known well in B. R. L. (and elsewhere); Worthington, of Johns Hopkins University, a former star with Princeton. This last one is scheduled to cover second.

What Boyne Says. Gus Boyne said the other day that he would under no circumstances play on the Frederick club during the coming season even though he is held under the reserve clause by Pilot Morrison. He declares that the club management wrongfully accused him of "laying down on the job" last summer in a letter to Secretary Farrell and adds that never yet has he forgotten that accusation.

Umpire Derr. Doll Derr, an umpire in the Blue Ridge last season, has made application to handle the indicator in the Southern league.

DUEL WITH GERMS MAY END CHICAGO DOCTORS' DISPUTE

Challenge For Combat to Death With Bacilli Has Been Issued.

"Gentlemen, choose your germs." It is a duel with disease laden bacteria as the weapons. The principals are Dr. John Dill Robertson, Chicago health commissioner, and Dr. Charles E. M. Fischer. Time, place and seconds have not been agreed upon yet.

A question of medical honor and the public health is at stake. The challenge calls for a settlement of the question by a test of bacteriological knowledge, with vindication for the winner and disease and possibly death for the loser.

Here is the challenge: "As there appears to be no satisfactory end in sight to the controversy which seems to have arisen between us regarding our respective abilities to diagnose the micro-organisms responsible for our present grippe epidemic, I am herewith suggesting a means by which we may arrive at a conclusion satisfactory to ourselves and the public. I submit for your consideration the following conditions of a demonstration:

"First.—We will both personally prepare five cultures of germs, all of common type, three of them nonpathogenic and two of them pathogenic.

"Second.—Through a referee mutually selected, we will exchange the prepared cultures.

"Third.—Each of us will personally examine and diagnose the cultures and pick out the three harmless ones.

"Fourth.—To show our faith in our ability to pick out the harmless germs from the dangerous ones, we will inculcate ourselves with the three cultures we select as the safe ones."

The challenge comes as a development of the exchange of verbal brickbats which has been going on for some weeks between Drs. Fischer and Robertson.

The two physicians are so much alike in appearance that mutual friends who often mistake them for one another, call them the "doubles." On the other hand, they are so unlike in their opinions on matters pertaining to the public health that they are most always opposed to one another on any question of proper living.

HAMMER'S HALL

Evangelist Has Large Audience on Sunday.

Pfouts' church was filled on Sunday night, notwithstanding the darkness of the night, and the bad condition of the country roads.

Evangelist Clapper announced that next Sunday he would preach three sermons. There will be a delegation coming here from Gettysburg, and those wishing to take in all three sermons, should bring their dinners and suppers along, also feed for their horses. The meals will be served in the basement of the church.

William F. Carbaugh, who has been at the hospital under the care of a number of doctors, it is said, is now making any improvement. Now, a laughter and one son are all under the doctor's care. The doctor fears that an operation for appendicitis will be required on the son.

S. S. W. Hammers has had several buyers for his park, as has H. N. Kepner for his farm and apple-butter works.

Elder C. L. Pfouts has recovered from a severe attack of grippe and is again able to be about.

DOESN'T LIKE BACHELORS.

Priest Says They Are Seldom of Value to Any Community.

Bumps for bachelors are handed on by the Rev. H. M. O'Neil, pastor of the Holy Name church of Ebersburg, Pa.

"The bachelor," says Father O'Neil, "is usually of little value to any community."

"Bachelors seldom accomplish much in life."

"Bachelors are not at the head of great governments or in work for the betterment of the world."

"Bachelors are not leaders in civil affairs."

"Bachelors, going on in their selfishness, rarely do their share for humanity."

"The bachelor can generally well be spared."

The sermon was incidental to the first mission of the leap year and was addressed to unmarried men.

BACK BROKEN, NOW WALKS

Dr. Keath's Pluck Saved Him, Philadelphia Physicians Say.

Dr. Jim Keath, the Jefferson Medical college student whose back was broken two years ago when he fell from a third story window, was able to walk alone the other day for the first time. Surgeons and nurses congratulated him as he proceeded a hundred feet along a corridor.

Just after the fall his life was despaired of by the surgeons, but his pluck, they say, carried him along. After a time he could sit up, and after that he was wheeled in a chair every day to and from the recitation room.

At his graduation last June he was carried to the platform to receive his diploma.

THE FRENCH HOME

There the Servant Is Like a Member of the Family.

IMPORTANCE OF THE NURSE.

She is the Real and Rational Ruler of the Turbulent Children Who, as a General Rule, Are Spoiled by Their Too Indulgent Parents.

The French people have not, so far, produced a spiritually servile class. The occupation most dangerous to the soul—that of personal service—has not resulted for the people of France in funkism on the one hand and superior airs on the other.

There is something in the poise and motion of French working girls, in their fearless eyes and vibrant voices, that suggests a fluid and mobile social structure which deepens the impression of rigidity in the life across the channel and beyond the Rhine. French people of the more favored classes are never heard bemoaning the decay of a "proper" servant class. On the contrary, if you speak to them of the striking contrast between the French proletariat and that of other countries—their so natural and gay, the others so humble or so sullen or both—they instantly expand with pride. "Exact!" they exclaim. "Our brave French people! Just as good as monsieur, as madame, but also no better!"

The status of the French domestic derives in part at least from the weight of responsibility under which she serves. For her mistress is neither a careless housekeeper nor an indifferent mother. It is precisely because the Frenchwoman loves her children so ardently, so romantically, one might say, and because her quick, intelligent grasp of material situations makes her an excellent economist at home that she requires and establishes in the household not a common servant, not a "mother's helper," but a woman of intelligence and character, a woman often young and untutored, but with the true ring, who is or soon becomes capable of assuming direct responsibility for the care of the children and the house—a woman who deserves and receives the consideration due to the head of an important department in the management of the family life.

French children are notoriously spoiled. The little monarchs are kept on a pedestal well into the age of moral responsibility. Father, mother, all the older relatives, vie with one another in admiring and indulging them. With this understanding of the term and scope of the child's autocratic reign, one can afford to laugh at turbulent scenes in which he puts to rout every adult in the house except his bonnie. At the mere sight of her little despot, the mother begins to quiet down. He is in the presence of the only person who has, so far, exercised any rational authority over him, the person before whom he feels the beginnings of shame at doing wrong.

The bonnie is the most important person in the family group, so far as its material well being is concerned. And morally, spiritually, she is a true member of the family. It is not for nothing that the word "bonnie" means "good" as well as "nurse."

It may be that the prevailing good relation between masters and servants in France has a very simple explanation—simple and yet profound. It may be that it springs at bottom from the warm affections of the people. They cannot live without love and sentiment. Better than any other people they know how to keep alive the romance of friendship, of love and even of that inherently bad relation, master and slave.

The French servant who has no family ties—and often the one who has—throws her whole heart and soul into the family life of her master and mistress.

She must love—she must serve—she must be loved. And the French master and mistress understand. Each one idealizes the sentiments of the other. In a word, the romance of the situation grips them all. French literature is crowded with examples of mistress and servant whose intimacy shows no trace of condescension on the one side or of servility on the other.—J. Frances Cooke in New Republic.

Art at Home.

Believe me, if we want art to begin at home, as it must, we must clear our houses of troublesome superfluities that are forever in our way, conventional comforts that are not real comforts and do but make work for servants and doctors. If you want a golden rule that will fit everybody this is it: "Have nothing in your houses that you do not know to be useful or believe to be beautiful."—William Morris.

A Precious Mosaic.

For ages upon ages happiness has been represented as a huge precious stone—impossible to find and which people seek for hopelessly. It is not so. Happiness is a mosaic composed of a thousand little stones, which separately and of themselves have little value, but which united with art form a graceful design.—Mme. de Girardin.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Mike Dorizas, Pennsylvania's Strong Man.

University of Pennsylvania's strong man, Mike Dorizas, will try to lift his strength record a notch or two as soon as he recovers from an injury received in football.

"I did 1,800 in an unofficial trial, and I don't think even this is the best I can do," said Dorizas recently. "I am stronger than I was two years ago, and I know something about the tricks of getting the most out of one's weight."

"My aim is 2,000. That's a pretty high mark, but not only am I stronger, but after some work on the mat I will be better than I have been in the past. This is my last chance at the thing. Some day another fellow will come along and do better."

Soccer Growing in Favor.

The phenomenal and continuous growth of association football is based on the merits of the game. Once the younger element have engaged in it they are bound to it because it permits the strong and the weak, the skilled and the unskilled, the young and the old, to enjoy the many varieties of action and motion without unnecessary danger and risk to life and limb.

New York city, Newark, Philadelphia, Boston, Brooklyn, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco are some of the prominent cities where the unceasing efforts of public school officials in regard to the furtherance and proper development of the game through well conducted interclass and interschool tournaments have been crowned with great success, and with the constant growth of numbers of players and instructors there is increased playing of the game throughout the country.

Les Darcy Coming to America.

Unless Les Darcy, the Australian middleweight, has changed his mind he is now prepared to go ahead with arrangements for a tour of this country.

Within the last year he has felled Jeff Smith, Mick King, Billy Murray twice, Jimmy Clabby and stopped Ed die McGorty twice. These are the headlines whom he has beaten. There were others.

Smith lost to Darcy on a foul and subsequently was blacklisted by Australian promoters. In all of these bouts reports from Australia assert that Darcy showed to excellent advantage. He is but twenty years of age and weighs 158 pounds. He is fast on his feet, a good ring general, is a boxer of considerable ability and "picks" a straight arm punch of power.

Oliphant's Good Record.

Elmer Oliphant, the Army football star, whose work featured the annual game with the Navy, is the first West Point man to win four "A's" in sports, which he has done in football, baseball, track and basketball. He is a boxer of ability and also plays hockey. His early athletic training was got at Purdue university. He has cleared 11½ feet pole vaulting, ran a quarter mile in 51 seconds, a half mile in 2 minutes 2 seconds, a mile in 4 minutes 31 seconds, covered the 220 yard hurdles in 25 seconds and cleared 21 1-2 feet in the broad jump.

Cincinnati's Good Fielding.

If fielding was all there was to baseball the Cincinnati Reds would have finished well up in the race. Mollwitz was the real fielding leader among the first basemen, while Groh led the second basemen for the twenty nine games he played at that position and was the real leader of the third basemen when he moved over to the first corner. In addition to this, Herzog stood second in fielding among the shortstops, and Kilmer, Leach and Griffith in the outfield had percentages of above .950.

Hans Wagner Leads Shortstops.

"Old Man" Hans Wagner of the Pittsburgh Pirates was good enough this season to outfield all his younger rivals for the shortstop honors of 1915. In the official fielding averages made public Wagner is credited with an average of .948 for 131 games. His average is three points better than that made by Charles Herzog, the scrappy manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

LOSING A BASS DRUM.

Feat That Can Be Performed In More Than One Way.

"Now, don't you leave that bass drum on the train when we get to the terminal," said the conductor sharply as he punched the ticket of a stout colored man who, with his drum, was squeezed into the seat at the forward end of the smoking car of a city bound local.

"No, indeed, boss, I shod' not do dat," responded the owner of the drum earnestly.

"Do many people leave bass drums on these trains?" asked a commuter as the conductor reached for his ticket. "It's a regular thing for that fellow," replied the conductor testily. "He lives up near Rosemere, and once a month he comes down to the city to play in a band. He doesn't need the drum until evening, so to avoid carrying it around all day or paying for checking it in the parcel room, he leaves it on the train. Then along about 5 o'clock he calls for it at the last article room in the station."

When the train reached the city the conductor left with the first of the passengers. As he approached the gate, however, he thought of something he had forgotten and turned quickly toward his train, which was now almost empty. As he did so his face reddened, his eyes snapped angrily and he started on a run for the steps of the smoking car, from which the owner of the bass drum, looking furtively from right to left, was descending.

"Where's that bass drum of yours?" demanded the conductor as he pushed up to him.

"Well, doggone me, ef I wasn't forgettin' dat drum again!" was the innocent response. "I shoddy thank you, cap'n, I shoddy. They ain't no danger o' de train movin' back ef I goes into de lynar to git dat drum, dey?" he added.

"I'll hold the train here for an hour if necessary," replied the conductor. "Don't get that drum out, and be quick about it!"

A few minutes later the commuter saw the owner of the drum sitting dejectedly on one of the benches in the station. As the drum again reposed beside him, it seemed likely that for once at least the owner would have to carry it with him through the day or else check it at the parcel room at the usual rate.

But on his way home that evening the commuter stopped at the lost article window to inquire for an umbrella that his wife had left in the station the day before. Much to his gratification, he found it.

As the attendant handed the umbrella to him he heard a voice over his shoulder, a somewhat familiar voice, plaintively inquire:

"Say, cap'n, did yo' all find a bass drum in dis station dis mawlin'?" —Youth's Companion.

Mark Twain's Editorial.

The first paragraph Mark Twain wrote when he began his editorial duties with the Virginia City Enterprise was this: "A beautiful sunset made Berger a poet, a mother's kiss made Benjamin W. an artist, and $15 a week makes us a journalist."

A Dead Joke.

There is a station on an English railway called Bury St. Edmunds. Toole, the actor, who took any pains for a joke, dressed in deep black, went to the station master and asked for a ticket for "the funeral train." The station master looked at the little actor, who was wiping tearful eyes and who carried a large wretch. "Wat funeral? There ain't no funeral!" the station master said. "Then it's a swindle, an imposition!" Toole said, with fiery indignation. "I have come telled to be at the funeral. Why do you announce that you are going to bury St. Ed munds?"

POULTRY and EGGS

THE PRODUCTION OF GREEN DUCKLINGS

[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Intensive duck farming is said in a new publication of the United States department of agriculture, bulletin No. 937, to have proved in general more successful on a large scale than intensive chicken raising. Peking ducks in particular, which are used for the production of green ducklings, stand confinement well, are more easily brooded and are less subject to disease than chickens. On the other hand, the market for green ducks is confined almost entirely to the large cities, and the prospective duck raiser will do well therefore to investigate the marketing as well as the producing possibilities of the industry.

Green ducklings are marketed when from eight to twelve weeks old, at which time they should weigh from four and one-half to six pounds.

The duck farm should be located on light sandy soil, generally on sloping land, which can be kept sweet and clean. Good shipping facilities are necessary in order both to market the product satisfactorily and to bring in supplies. Convenient watering arrangements are essential, too, as ducks require a large amount of drinking water. It is also advisable to allow considerable yard space, and double yards which may be rotated and planted to quick growing crops are useful on large farms.

Simple buildings similar to hen-houses are used for breeding ducks. A shed roof house from twelve to fifteen feet deep, seven feet high in front and four feet in the rear is satisfactory. A good shed with a curtain and one window in the front of each pen makes a good front. Plenty of ventilation is essential, and in the south it is usually advisable to have an opening under the eaves in the rear of the house for this purpose. Plenty of litter should be used on the floor, and the ducks should be allowed to make their own nests, because they are more apt to break their eggs if nest boxes are used. A convenient formula for estimating the size of the house or pen is to allow six feet of floor space for each duck.

Mating the Flocks.

Ordinarily from five to six males are allowed for a flock of thirty females. About the 1st of May this number may be reduced to one male for every seven females and later in the year still further.

Neither the Peking duck, used chiefly for the production of green ducks for market, nor the Indian Runner duck, which holds in the duck family a position somewhat similar to the Leghorn in the chicken family, is a good sitter. In consequence practically all of the large farms hatch their eggs in incubators. Formerly lamp incubators of from 200 to 400 egg capacity were used, but in many cases these have been replaced by the larger sized incubator. Duck incubators are usually kept at a slightly lower temperature than those used for chickens. For the first three weeks the machine should be kept at about 102 degrees F. and for the last week at 103 degrees or slightly higher at hatching time. It is usually advisable to supply moisture for ducks' eggs during the last week or ten days.

All eggs should be tested at least twice during incubation, preferably on the seventh and fourteenth days, and the infertile eggs removed. Those with dead germs should also be taken out at once, as they decompose very rapidly. The infertile eggs make good feed for ducklings or can be used for cooking. The testing should be done in a dark room and the large end of the egg held up, so that the size of the air cells may be seen. When held before the tester an infertile egg will look perfectly clear, much like a fresh egg. The fertile egg, on the other hand, will show a small dark spot, known as the embryo, with a mass of little blood veins extending in all directions. When the embryo is dead the blood settles away from it over the edge of the yolk, forming what is known as a blood ring. After the fourteenth day eggs with living embryos are dark and partly filled up.

The brooders and brooding systems used for chickens give good results in rearing ducklings.

No Comparison.

It is an indisputable fact that the morocco-bound encyclopedia is less weighty than the plain, well-filled pocketbook.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR. LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can Tell.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

MAKE ALL FIGHT IS LEAGUE PLAN

Compulsory Military Training For U. S. is Urged.

CUT OUT WAR PROFITS, TOO

Trade Mobilization to Compel Civil Arians to Bear Share of Burden is Favored.

Washington, Jan. 24.—With a single dissenting vote, the congress of the National Security League went on record in favor of compulsory military training, wholly under the discipline and control of the federal authorities. This declaration was embodied in the first of a series of resolutions adopted at a largely-attended and enthusiastic meeting. The single dissenter was William A. Ketcham, who said he represented the governor of Indiana. He voted for the other resolutions, all of which were unanimously adopted.

A greater building program for the navy than has been outlined by the navy department was urged as essential in another resolution adopted.

Next to this ringing declaration in favor of compulsory military training the greatest enthusiasm was shown over the adoption of a resolution providing for placing a fair share of the burden of war on civilians in the event of hostilities. This resolution was offered by Bernard J. Rothwell, delegate of the Boston chamber of commerce, and was adopted without debate after the set of resolutions presented by the committee on resolutions had been adopted one at a time and then as a whole.

The Rothwell resolution, which is well calculated to answer the cry of the pacifists that all organizations favoring preparedness are more interested in the dividends of munitions factories than in the patriotism, follows: "Whereas, The misfortune of war would demand from the young manhood of the nation the supreme offering of life itself; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That a fundamental factor in the problems of preparedness should be such intensive mobilization of the productive, industrial and commercial forces of the United States as would insure in time of war the contribution of their fullest resources at a restricted profit, to be regulated by the government."

The only discussion of this resolution was a brief statement by its author, who said that he believed it to be the sentiment of the congress that the young men of the country should not make the only sacrifices. This statement was greeted with prolonged applause. When the resolution was read before the delegates it was received with cheers and adopted unanimously.

The league also went on record as endorsing Secretary Garrison's efforts to obtain an increase in the regular army, going further and urging the adoption of the recommendation of the war college that the mobile regular army within the United States consist of four full divisions of infantry, in addition to auxiliary forces.

BEAR RIPS OFF BOY'S FINGERS

Animal Snaps Lad as He Shoves Peanuts Through Bars of Cage.

New York, Jan. 24.—While feeding peanuts to the bears in the Central Park menagerie, Edward Wallace, twelve years old, reached a hand in between the bars and one of the animals bit off two of his fingers.

The boy, screaming with pain, drew back from the cage while several persons nearby called for assistance. An ambulance was sent from Reception Hospital and Dr. Dougherty took the boy to that institution. He was placed on the operating table and what was left of the two torn digits was amputated.

Wallace had gone to the park to make an inspection of the menagerie, and purchased some peanuts to throw to the animals. There was a crowd around the bear pens when he reached them, but he managed to edge his way in close and was handing out the nuts to the bears when one of the animals bit him.

Tricked by Spy, Loses Job.

Washington, Jan. 24.—P. J. Johnson, federal deputy marshal, who was in charge of Ignatius T. T. Lincoln, confessed German spy, when the latter escaped from custody in Brooklyn last Saturday, was removed from office by direction of Attorney General Gregory. Department of Justice officials, after examining a report on the circumstances of Lincoln's escape, decided that Johnson had been unduly negligent.

Allentown, Pa., June 24.—Stephen Hummel, an interned German sailor, who came here to work until his ship could go to sea again after the war, was crushed to death by a slide of ten tons of rock in the Meyer quarry at Northampton.

1 Dead; 1 Hurt in Mine Explosion.
Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 24.—Vito Pella, a miner, was killed at the Blackwood colliery, and John Borango, probably fatally injured, when the mine drilled into a dynamite charge that failed to explode when prepared for blast.

WILL MAKE $25,000 IN 100 BUSINESS DAYS

Young Man to Start on a Novel Quest.

New York, Jan. 24.—"Dame Fortune stands ready to smile on any youth who is willing to go out and work for what he wants and who is sincere in his efforts."

"I will make $25,000 in one hundred business days, starting without a dollar of capital and without accepting money, credit or anything of value that I have not earned during that period."

The statement was made by Walter John Burke, a Brooklyn youth, who leaves city hall next Saturday afternoon in search of the fortune which he hopes to acquire with such rapidity that it will dazzle even the speculators in "war brides."

Young Mr. Burke is closely guarding the details of his scheme, but to prove that he is in earnest and has confidence in his undertaking he has announced that he will turn his income during the one hundred days of his experiment over to charity; if he has less than $25,000 to his credit when the time has expired.

"My idea is something entirely new," Burke explained. "I cannot make public the details, for it would upset everything."

BOYS' CONDITION CRITICAL

Two More May Die as Result of Cave-In.

Mt. Holly, N. J., Jan. 24.—Russell Street and Bertram Sellers, the boys who were so badly injured when the upper part of a cave, in which they were playing collapsed, and Howard Powell and Ernest Street were killed, continue in a critical condition at the hospital here.

They appear to have been so badly crushed that the full extent of their injuries is of no doubt.

Hundreds of persons visited the scene of the accident to see where the two lives were snuffed out.

DOVE IS A HYPOCRITE

Ornithologist Says it Fights All the Year and is No Peace Emblem.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Peace lovers had better find another bird to become a symbol of their ideas, for the dove is not a bird of peace, but is one of the most pugnacious little fighters. In fact, the dove fights a large part of its waking hours.

This was but one of the many interesting points brought out before the Audubon society of the District of Columbia by Norman McClintock, of Pittsburgh, ornithologist and motion picture photographer.

GALIPOLI FIGHTER A THIEF

Off to Prison for a Year for Stealing a Purse.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 24.—Discharged from the British army after participation in the Dardanelles campaign, Earl Rogers, soldier of fortune, came to Wilkes-Barre and spent his one day in freedom.

Rogers was sentenced to a year in the county prison after conviction of the theft of a wallet from a guest at Hotel Sterling, where Rogers had accepted a place as boot-lick.

The army record, obtained by Judge Garrison's court, failed to turn to Rogers' way, and he was summarily sentenced.

MARTIN LUTHER'S RING

Bethlehem Jewel is Placed on Exhibition in New York.

New York, Jan. 24.—The Bethlehem ring of Martin Luther, considered one of the most valuable pieces of jewelry ever brought to this country, has been loaned to the New York Historical Society and placed on exhibition there.

It is believed that this is the first time the jewel has ever been shown publicly. It is composed of an intricate device of gold work, set with a ruby and carved with all the symbols of the passion. The inscription reads, "D. Martino Luther-Catharina V. Boren, 13 Jun. 1525."

Hens Lay as in Summer.

York, Pa., Jan. 24.—York county hens, laying by the thermometer rather than by the calendar, were so prolific this week that the price of eggs dropped to twenty-six cents a dozen in the markets—a midwinter record.

Richardson 80 Degrees Below Zero.

Seattle, Jan. 24.—Richardson, Alaska, sixty miles from Fairbanks, reported eighty degrees below zero, according to despatches from the far north territory.

THE LAND'S FIRST NEED.

Fertility is the first word in farming. It is the first consideration in placing a value on new lands. It is first mentioned when old farms are sold. It is the first problem that confronts the beginner as well as the expert who takes up the cultivation of new crops on new fields. It is first in a list of questions asked by those seeking help in farming. The solution of the fertility problem makes many other problems comparatively easy to solve.

The quick and easy way to get fertility is to buy it. It can be had in bags in the form of commercial fertilizers or by the car load in the form of animal manure.

But this method of fertilization requires cash capital and does not fulfill all the needs of the land. Since we have learned that a fertile soil is a mixture of mineral and vegetable substance, teeming with germ life, fermenting with innumerable minute plants and chemical changes, we have learned that a soil needs more than mere mineral plant foods to enable it to grow the maximum crops.

It has long been known that legumes and green manures are beneficial to soils, but only recently have we learned to use these green manures to build a soil up permanently and to keep it up at the lowest cost.

THEY PUZZLED HUXLEY.

Terms in Which He Found It Difficult to Define His Belief.

Huxley once wondered whether he was a deist, an atheist, an agnostic, a pantheist, a materialist or a skeptic, an idealist, a Christian, an infidel or a freethinker. And the more he reflected the deeper his problem. What an answer will any one make? Dr. James C. Fernald in his work "Skepticism and Antinomies" defines each according to his own belief, as follows:

"The deist admits the existence of God, but denies that the Christian Scriptures are a revelation from Him. The atheist denies that there is a God. The agnostic denies either that we do know or that we can know whether there is a God. The skeptic doubts divine revelation."

"The infidel is an opprobrious term that might once almost have been said to be geographical in its range. The crusaders called all Mohammedans infidels and were so called by them in return. The word is commonly applied to any decided opponent of an accepted religion."

"A freethinker is inclined or addicted to free thinking, especially one who rejects authority or inspiration in religion. A materialist takes interest only in the material or bodily necessities and comforts of life. A pantheist accepts the doctrine of pantheism. An idealist idealizes or seeks an ideal or ideal conditions. A Christian is one whose profession and life conform to the teaching and example of Christ."

Keeping a Lamp Clean.

Once in two months I separate the wicks from the burners and boil them in soda water. In about ten or fifteen minutes I take them out and clean them with an old toothbrush, rinse and dry. I lay the wicks straight to keep their shape. They will be white and pliable. Then fill the lamps with kerosene, wipe out and refill with kerosene, adding a teaspoonful of salt to each lamp. Lamps treated this way give a beautiful bright light and there is no fear of an explosion.—Boston Post.

Sing Different Songs.

"Pa, you sing bass in the choir, don't you?" asked Bobby Smithers.
"Yes, my son," replied Smithers.
"And ma sings soprano?"
"That's right."
"Well, there's one thing I don't understand."

"What is it?"
"Mrs. Tompkins says you sing mighty big in public and mighty small at home."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Cleaning Automobile Lamps.

Much of the efficiency of the electric or parabola lamp depends upon the cleanliness of the reflectors, says the Automobile Dealer and Repairer. As a rule, the reflectors are silver plated and highly polished. They require different treatment from the gas headlights, as the latter are of glass and are not as easily scratched. If the electric headlight becomes dirty do not wipe it, but employ a stream of cold water to displace the dust or dirt and permit the surface to dry by the air.

If the reflectors become dull after continued service they can be partially restored by using a soft chamois, with red rouge or crocus. This material should be used sparingly, and the chamois must be soft as well as free from wrinkles. Place a wad of cotton about the size of an egg within the chamois. This will afford a smooth surface for wiping.

When properly used crocus will not scratch the silver plate. Moisten the chamois with alcohol, then apply the crocus to the chamois. Press very lightly and wipe with a rotary motion.

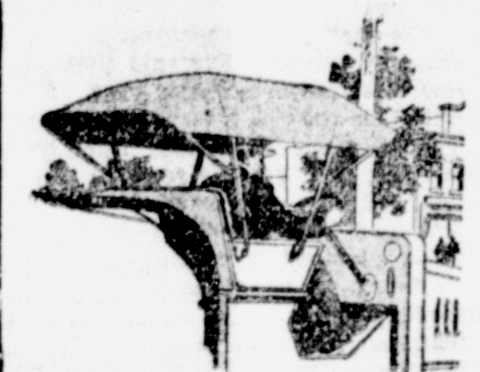

Garage Ventilation.

As we understand it and surely there is no possibility of too clear information upon the subject, there are two kinds of dangerous gases incident to running the automobile, carbon dioxide and carbon monoxide, says the Automobile Dealer and Repairer. Carbon dioxide is a non-supporter of life, and, although not in the strict sense a poisonous gas, to remain in an atmosphere of it for any length of time would be likely to prove fatal. Thus it is that to stay in the vicinity of the exhaust even for a little while and where it cannot be dissipated quickly by the air, as it is a very heavy gas, causes headache or faintness. Carbon monoxide, it appears, is the product of incomplete combustion and is far more fatal in its effects.

The lesson is easy and simple. It is that an engine should not be run more than a few minutes in a closed garage.

Top For Automobile Truck.

The style of automobile top illustrated is specially adapted for tank trucks where its rear projection causes no interference with the load, says Popular

Alaska's Mineral Output.

The Alaska mining industry as a whole was more prosperous in 1915 than in any previous year. This is indicated by the value of the total mineral output, which is estimated to have been $22,000,000, compared with $19,041,903 for 1914. The highest value for any previous year was in 1906, when Alaska produced $23,378,428 worth of minerals, but this was at a time when the bonanza placers of Fairbanks and Nome were yielding their greatest returns, says a United States geological survey bulletin. The high value of the mineral output in 1915 was due in large measure to the extraordinary amount of copper that was mined. Preliminary estimates indicate this to be $12,000,000, valued at $14,000,000.

Cheaper Trucks After the War.

As the great war has accelerated the demand for motor trucks in peaceful pursuits, so likewise it has hastened the growth of mechanical haulage and has enabled manufacturers to reduce prices as a consequence of tremendous increase in production. True, a study of comparative prices of first quality motor trucks will not reveal any noteworthy reductions, but immediately the war stops, and even before, there must come a conspicuous reduction in present prices. Manufacturers will make the reduction both from necessity and from choice.—Engineering Magazine.

THE KITCHEN CUPBOARD

HOT BREADS.

PARKER HOUSE CORN CAKE.—Mix one cupful of flour, one cupful of Indian meal, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, one teaspoonful of saleratus and a little salt together, then mix one egg, one-half cupful sugar, piece of butter size of an egg and one cupful of warm milk together. Pour this into the dry mixture, beat well and bake.

Sour Milk Griddlecakes.—Mix one egg, well beaten, with one cupful sour milk, half a teaspoonful soda, quarter teaspoonful salt and cupful of flour. Drop spoonful by spoonful on hot griddle. Brown well on one side. When puffed full of bubbles and cooked on edges, reverse and cook.

Potato Pancakes.—Take eight large potatoes, pared and grated. Drain off the water and add one cupful of sweet milk, one-half teaspoonful baking powder, one teaspoonful salt, four well beaten eggs, one cupful flour. Bake on hot griddle. Serve with maple syrup.

Brown Bread.—Break stale bread into small pieces. There should be one and one-half cupfuls. Add two cupfuls cold water, cover and let stand overnight. In the morning rub through a colander and add three-quarters cup molasses and one and one-half cupfuls each rye meal, granulated cornmeal and Graham flour, mixed and sifted with two teaspoonfuls of soda and one and one-half teaspoonfuls salt; then add one and one-half cupfuls cold water. Stir until well mixed and fill one pound baking powder into two-thirds full of the mixture. Steam two hours.

Cream of Tartar Biscuits.—One quart of flour, two teaspoonfuls cream of tartar, one teaspoonful of baking soda, one teaspoonful of salt. Sift all together four times. Rub in with your hand one tablespoonful of lard or butter. Use milk and water little over half milk enough to make it as soft as you can knead and roll about three-quarters of an inch thick and bake in hot oven fifteen or twenty minutes.

Apple Molasses.—One cupful of milk, two and one-half cupfuls of flour or less, perhaps two cupfuls, one tablespoonful of sugar, a pinch of salt, one tablespoonful of melted butter and lard, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder.

STORY OF A WEATHER VANE.

Why a Grasshopper Tops the Royal Exchange in London.

If you ever go to London among the places of interest there you will visit the public buildings known as the Royal Exchange. There is a cupola at the top of that building. Rising from that cupola is an iron rod with a huge grasshopper on it for a weather vane. And there is an interesting story connected with that grasshopper. It is this: One day, more than 280 years ago, a mother in England had an infant, a few months old, which she wanted to get rid of. So she wrapped it up in a shawl and laid it down under a bush in a field and left it there to die unless some one should find it and take care of it.

Shortly after a little boy was coming home from school. As he passed by the place he heard a grasshopper chirping in the field. He stopped a moment to listen to it. Then he climbed over the fence to get it. But just as he was about to catch it he caught sight of the baby close by. He let the grasshopper go and, taking the baby in his arms, carried it home to his mother. She took charge of the baby and brought him up. He turned out to be a good, plucky boy. He was always decided in doing what he knew was right and in not doing what was wrong.

When a young man he went to London and entered into business there. He was successful in business and became rich. He was not only rich, but great. He was knighted and is well known in English history as Sir Thomas Gresham. The Royal Exchange was built in honor of him. And he let the grasshopper put as a weather vane on the top of it in memory of the wonderful way in which when an infant his life was saved by the good providence of God.—Richard Newton in Bible Models.

A Double Secret

By EUNICE BLAKE

Mr. George Smith at fifty looked forward to a lonely old age. He wished to marry, but there was an impediment in the way of his marrying. At thirty he had married a girl of seventeen against her parents' wishes. Seventeen is a tender age for a woman to be placed in antagonism with her mother, and a husband who under such circumstances attempts to contend with a mother-in-law is quite likely to get the worst of it. One day, but a month after his wedding—at the end of the honeymoon—Mr. Smith went home from business to find the newly built nest deserted. His wife's mother had swooped down on her and carried off her chick.

It was six months before the bereaved husband could discover where his wife had been taken. Then he also learned that she was dead. At any rate, his mother-in-law wrote him to that effect. But whether the lady did so that she might cause him to cease to pursue her daughter or whether she wrote the truth he was not quite certain.

But now, twenty years from the date of his marriage, he met a maiden lady verging on to forty with whom he was very companionable. He never told her about his marriage, for he made up his mind to win her if possible and feared that if he admitted any doubt as to his being free to marry she would not take the risk. When he proposed to her she surprised him with a confession. She informed him that the name she bore was not hers legally. There was a long story to tell in connection with the matter of her passing under an assumed name that she would tell him if he cared to hear it, after which he might judge for himself if he wished to marry her.

Smith after a few moments of thought replied that there was a matrimonial hitch in his own case. If he told her what it was it would always worry her; if he knew what hers was it would worry him. Would it not be well for him to keep his secret and vice versa? In his own case there was not one chance in a thousand of there being any trouble. She said that the same was true in her own case. She would take the risk if he would. After awhile they concluded that what had been proposed was the sensible thing to do, and they were married.

Things don't always turn out as expected. Instead of there now being two causes for worry there were four. Mr. Smith in addition to having his own affair to trouble him had that of his wife. Mrs. Smith also had two causes of worry where she had had one. Then, too, curiosity came in to make matters worse.

The prime difficulty in their now unburdening themselves to each other was that fearing they would not adhere to their resolution of keeping their secret they had each registered a vow to maintain it inviolate. Mr. Smith, who was engrossed in business, did not find it difficult to keep his vow, but Mrs. Smith, who had little to occupy her mind, dwelt upon her husband's secret continually. One day she said to him:

"Dear, I have concluded that I must know your secret. True, you have made a vow not to reveal it, but that vow was made to me, and I release you."

"Why cannot you dismiss this matter from your mind?" he asked. "If I tell you my secret I am entitled to know yours. I don't wish to know it. Possibly if I did I might feel something, do something, say something to spoil our happiness. As it is, we are passing on without anything to mar it. Why not let the matter rest as it is? Remember Pandora and the box of troubles she opened."

This was all very well, but the curious bee had been buzzing in Mrs. Smith's bonnet so long that she could endure it no longer. However, something occurred to bring about a revelation of both mysteries. One morning the postman delivered the mail while the Smiths were at breakfast. Mrs. Smith opened a letter addressed to her and turned pale. Seeing that she was about to faint, her husband ran to her and caught her in his arms. She came to herself in a few moments.

"What is it, darling?" cried her husband.

"Read it." Taking up the letter, he read: When your mother died she left it discretionary with me to make a confession for her. I have not long to live and have concluded to make it before I die. Your mother spoke falsely when she told you your husband was dead. She also wrote him that you were dead.

Something glimmered upon George Smith. An idea was trying to permeate his brain.

"What was your maiden name?" he gasped.

"Stacey—Arietta Stacey." Throwing his arms about her, he squeezed her till she cried out.

"Thank heaven!" he cried.

"What for?"

"I am your first as well as your second husband. You are my first and second wife."

"How do you know?"

"I married Arietta Stacey when she was seventeen years old. Why did you change your name?"

"Mother forced me to do so to keep you from finding me."

"But you have known my name since our marriage."

"Yes, but Smith is not an uncommon name."

GUIDES' SCHOOL BEGINS ITS WORK

Classes Held to Equip More Fully the Men who Conduct Tourists over the Field. To Continue for Some Time.

The school of instruction for battlefield guides has been started and the first classes were held on Wednesday under the direction of Colonel E. B. Cope and W. C. Storrick. The classes will be continued for some weeks, it is expected, and all the second and third class guides will be given an opportunity to profit by them.

The large relief maps are used to great advantage in this work, and guides who appeared on Wednesday were asked to point out places and describe certain incidents, using the map for their work. The instructors told them of various matters of importance, and numerous questions were also submitted for their study.

It is believed that, after the system has been under way for some time, many of the guides who failed to get creditable marks in their written tests of last year will be able to advance into the first class, while others whose grades were exceptionally low will be even more benefited. A corresponding increase in the efficiency of the entire corps of guides serving the traveling public is sure to result, it is argued.

Last year the work of the force of laborers and artisans on the battlefield was begun on March first, but present indications would seem to make such an early date this year inadvisable on account of weather conditions. As soon, however, as there is any sign of continued pleasant days which will allow the work to go forward without more than ordinary interruptions, the force will be called upon and the annual routine begun.

TIMELY DISCOVERY

Plans for Jail Delivery were Nipped in the Bud.

Plans for a delivery of prisoners from the county jail at Hagerstown were frustrated by Sheriff Long, who had received a tip of what was on tap. When the cells of the three Jenkins brothers were searched several blackjacks and other weapons were found. Rags had been stuffed above the door of one of the cells so that it would not close tightly. The plan was to attack the turnkey when he came in response to a summons, secure the keys and release the two dozen other prisoners in jail awaiting trial.

The Jenkins brothers are youths, who are charged with a number of robberies committed in Hagerstown and the county during the past several months.

Beautiful Home to be Provided for Boys who Attend Prep. All will Room and Board in the New Structure.

The March number of the College Bulletin, just from the press, contains a complete announcement of the arrangements and furnishings of the new Gettysburg Academy building, now under construction, and which it is stated positively will be ready for occupancy next September.

The cover and title page of the Bulletin give the name of the local college as "Pennsylvania College of Gettysburg", an innovation which it is believed will do much to avoid the oft-recurring confusion of this college with the University of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania State College. The Bulletin announcement for next year reads most attractively and tells in the following way of what comforts and pleasures the boys attending the Academy next year may enjoy:

"This building is of beautiful, Colonial architecture and fronts one hundred and fifty six feet on Carlisle street. Into its construction and equipment have gone the very best and latest ideas that science, sanitation and school experience can give. The building is heated by a vacuum steam system from the central plant and lighted throughout by electricity. The plumbing is of the most approved sanitary design.

"The first floor contains large, airy class-rooms, lavatory with hot and cold water supply, shower baths and a locker-room. There are also a number of rooms for students.

"The second or main floor contains the large living room beautifully finished in colonial style with an ample fireplace, tiled floor and comfortable furnishings. This provides a useful and delightful center for the school life. To the south of this is the large chapel and study hall. Here are held the religious exercises, the literary society meetings and certain study periods. To the north is the dining hall with a capacity of one hundred boarders. Here the masters and students take their meals together.

"On this floor is also the modern sanitary kitchen equipment with the best devices and machinery for the preparation of food. The table is abundantly furnished with wholesome, well-cooked food fresh from the rich farming and fruit country of the vicinity. Only pasteurized milk and cream is served; only pure filtered water and manufactured ice is used. The excellence and cheapness of food supplies in Adams County makes it possible to furnish a very good table at very low rates.

"Near the living room are the office of the headmaster, a study hall for girls who attend as day students, and a cozy reading room. The reading room is supplied with a large number of magazines and papers and is open every day for the use of the students.

"The entire third floor contains rooms for the students and masters. There are single and double rooms. On this floor there is another lavatory with hot and cold showers, drinking font, and all modern toilet conveniences."

PATRONS' DAY

Classes and Exercises at One of the Bendersville Schools.

Bendersville Primary School observed Patrons' Day, February 22. Regular classes were held from 9:00 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. and a celebration of Washington's Birthday from three to four o'clock. It was the first patrons' day held for many years and it proved to be a success.

ASKS TIMES TO HELP FIND WIFE

Believes Woman who Wandered away may have been Given Shelter by Kind Hearted People of Adams County.

The following letter to The Times is self-explanatory:
York, Feb. 23, 1916.

My dear Sir:—
On January 19th, 1916, my wife, Margaret O'Brien, while evidently laboring under some mental delusion, wandered from her home, and thus far all efforts to locate her have proved futile. I have received information that she has been seen in various localities. A notice in your paper, together with a description, might enable me to get some definite clue as to her whereabouts. Any assistance that you can render me along this line will be greatly appreciated.

She is forty years of age; weight about 155 lbs., height about five feet five inches; dark brown hair; wore a white house dress; short blue coat, no hat, but had scarf around her head, and wore plain band wedding ring.

Owing to her exhausted condition, it may be possible that some sympathetic family have given her shelter, and watching the newspapers for some information concerning her.

Again thanking you for any courtesies extended me, in this connection, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,
A. O'Brien.

ARENDSVILLE

Arendtsville—An entertainment will be held by the Arendtsville schools on Saturday evening, February 26, at 7:30 o'clock, at Warren's Hall.

Mrs. John L. Snyder has a German Bible that was printed in 1720. Edward Funt purchased two building lots, on Main street, from William W. Boyer. He has put up a large henery on the one and will build a dwelling house on the other in the near future.

Robert Carey has gone to Ledge-wood, New Jersey, where he is working at his trade of house painting.

Last week two foxes were let loose for a chase in this place. Wilson B. Ruffenberger was the lucky one to get the foxes after the chase.

GETS SEEDS

20,000 Vegetable and 8,000 Flower Packages Obtained by Beales.

Congressman Beales has sent 20,000 addressed vegetable seed from slips, and 8,000 flower seed slips to the secretary of agriculture. The slips will be placed upon a like number of packages to be distributed throughout the Twentieth Congressional District. The congressman has been advised by the chief of the bureau of plant industry that his requisition will be filled no later than March 1.

Should any person who might have been missed desire the seeds, they can be secured, the congressman states, by addressing a card to him. He will endeavor to grant the requests of all as long as the supply lasts.

PLAN FOR POST SEASON SERIES

Gettysburg Followers Hear of Proposed Working of Potomac and Blue Ridge Leagues. Closing at Same Time.

J. Glenn Beall, of Frostburg, one of the promoters of the newly organized Potomac League, was in Gettysburg on Wednesday evening and discussed with local fans the manner in which it is proposed to have the new organization and the Blue Ridge League work together. Mr. Beall stated, among other things, that it would be arranged to have both leagues close their seasons at the same time and that a post-season series would then be arranged between the winners.

Where these games shall be played, the manner of financing them, and other details, will be left until later in the year, but sufficient money is back of the Potomac League to insure its success and the Blue Ridge circuit is sure to have as successful a season as last year.

Mr. Beall stated, during his talk here, that Frostburg had not been given a fair show at the time of the recent meeting in Hagerstown. Concerning the impression, given publication, that Frostburg could get crowds only on Sunday Mr. Beall stated that on no day last year were the gate receipts less than $82.00. To games at Cumberland, Frostburg took between 400 and 500 fans and these figures were either not clearly brought out or misunderstood.

The fact that Sunday games would not be guaranteed was sufficient to keep the Maryland towns out of the league, said Mr. Beall, not because they yielded all the receipts, but because they would provide enough to finance the team without the possibility of loss. The Frostburg team last year cost $7000 to run, and it just made expenses. This year games will be played on four days of the week, one of which, it is understood, will be Sunday.

Mr. Beall attended college here for several years and during his present stay in town, is the guest of friends at the school.

TO SELL STEVENS ROAD

To Make Application in Harrisburg for Same.

Considerable interest hinges about the application which the Cumberland Valley Railroad will make before the Public Service Commission this week for purchase of the control of the Southern Pennsylvania Railway and Mining Company, which owns about twenty two miles of railroad in Franklin county. This company is a creation of Thaddeus Stevens.

He was not as much of a success in his iron making and mining enterprises as he was as a statesman, and the Southern Pennsylvania Iron and Railway Company was one of his ventures. He built it to haul ore from one of the mines to furnaces in which he was interested and the Southern Railway and Mining Company took it over.

VOGEL'S MINSTRELS

Season's Big Novelty Booked for Walter's Theatre.

"Japland", spoken of as the biggest novelty ever seen in theatricals, will be given a local hearing at Walter's Theatre, Wednesday, March first. The piece is described as an operatic minstrel farce-comedy and requires for its presentation the joint services of The John W. Vogel Big Minstrels, a complete cast for opera and a girl chorus of twenty, a double symphony orchestra being an essential seldom carried by a traveling company. In fact, "Japland" is looked upon not alone as a novelty, but as the season's biggest and best production and most likely musical offering.—advertisement

$7174 IS TOTAL AT TYSON SALE

Best in Years. Attendance Large and Fourteen Hundred Separate Items were Sold. Fancy Prices for Cattle.

The high water mark in receipts as well as in attendance was registered at the sale of the Charles J. Tyson Estate in Menallen township on Wednesday. The total reached $7174.15, which is several thousand dollars above the record price of the past few years. The total attendance is estimated to have been in the neighborhood of 2000.

The herd of thirteen Guernsey cattle, considered specially fine, brought a total of $1700, the best prices being $200, $196, and $192. A three months old Guernsey calf sold for $150. One pair of mules sold for $446, and three other pairs brought $320 each. The best horse sold for $136.

No less than 5000 articles were sold between 9:00 a. m. and 5:20 p. m. by Auctioneers Slaybaugh and Lerew, Z. J. Peters and G. W. Koser were the clerks, and their lists of items covered no less than forty three sheets of paper. There were 1200 separate and distinct sales, the auctioneers handling the work with remarkable speed and success.

The sale of George A. Strasbaugh, in Cumberland township, on Tuesday amounted to $1564.35. The best horse brought $128, the best cow, $56. Attendance about 500.

J. W. Brindle's sale in Straban township on Wednesday amounted to $1662.10. The best horse brought $100.50; the best cow, $63.50; a row and pigs, $40; chickens, 22 cents; turkeys, 40 cents. Attendance 300.

NOISY VISITOR

New Experience for this Portion of the Town.

A hurry call for police was sent in from the north end of town shortly after midnight this morning when residents of that usually quiet section were aroused by a drunken man driving a team at breakneck speed up and down Lincoln avenue and Broadway, not confining his travels to the roadway but including the grass and flower plots also. Officers Smiley and Hughes found the man, who proved to be E. H. Smith, of near town, talking earnestly to his horse and they had no difficulty putting him under arrest. He was placed in the lock-up and the horse put into a livery stable for the night.

This morning the offender was given a hearing before Burgess Eicholtz and paid a fine of $3.00 and costs.

Order Your Harness

We make a special endeavor to keep on hand a large supply of all kinds of HARNESS, and usually are able to meet any demand made upon us for immediate delivery. Just at this time of the year, however, when farmers frequently desire a number of sets of the same kind, it is difficult to fill their requirements without any delay unless an order is placed with us in advance. We would suggest therefore, that farmers, intending to buy a large amount of harness, notify us of the date when they will actually need it so that we may prepare to fill their wants promptly.

For Bronchitis, Severe Coughs Colds And Whooping Cough

Make the Best Medicine at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 Cents

Money spent for the old style, ready-made medicine usually sold in bottles holding only 2 to 2 1/2 ounces (16 to 20 teaspoonful) is largely wasted, because most of them are composed principally of sugar and water. Yet you have to pay the same price as if it were all medicine. Stop wasting this money. You can make a better remedy for bronchial affections, at home at one-fifth the cost. Merely go to The People's Drug Store and ask for 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant, which they guarantee will give perfect satisfaction or money will be refunded. Mix this with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of boiling water, which makes a full pint (128 teaspoonful). This new, simple, pleasant remedy is guaranteed to relieve the worst cough or cold. Brander this positive guarantee.

BERLIN ASKS U. S. TO DEFINE STAND

Submarine Dispute Reaches an Acute Stage.

HINGES ON WILSON'S REPLY

Germany Wants to Know What is Meant by Merchant Vessels With Guns for Defense Only.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Germany's answer to the latest demands of the United States in the submarine controversy reached Washington.

Germany asks the United States to define what it means by a merchant vessel "armed for defense."

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, expects to arrange a conference with Secretary of State Lansing, when he will transmit his government's latest word to him.

It is understood the communication does not discuss what the German government's reply will be to the United States' request for a reiteration of the pledge that Germany will abide by international law in her submarine warfare. Germany first wants to find out just what this government considers a merchant vessel armed for defense only.

No information could be obtained at the state department as to what answer this government will make. Officials refused to discuss the case until Count von Bernstorff has presented his reply to the state department.

The majority leader of the house, Mr. Kitchin, and Speaker Clark held an hour's conference on the international situation. Following the conference, it was learned they had sent word to the Democratic leader in both houses to get together at once.

The president has said the next step he takes, if the assurances demanded for the future safety of American citizens are denied, will be direct and emphatic. If his present determination is carried out, this means that the president's next communication with Germany will go through Ambassador Gerard.

The message will convey in unmistakable terms that Germany is to give assurances for the safety of Americans on belligerent passenger ships, or that Count von Bernstorff will receive his passports.

Besides the intimation from German sources that the Berlin government will agree to recognize 2-inch guns as defensive armament, the understanding has been conveyed that Germany is willing to postpone putting the "March 1 orders" into effect. It is said also that postponement would imply that during any negotiations over definitions of defensive armament no Americans would be put in jeopardy by German submarine commanders.

BREAK WILL MEAN WAR

Says Germany Will Not Let U. S. Dictate in Submarine Controversy.

London, Feb. 24.—Breaking of diplomatic relations between Germany and the United States will be followed by war, according to the view in Berlin. No other result of the severance of diplomatic ties is possible.

This word was brought to London by an American who came by way of Switzerland and France. He said that when he left Berlin Germans were hopeful of an adjustment of the submarine issue, but all were of the opinion that the German government would accept no dictation from the United States.

Reports that Germany will postpone its campaign against armed merchant men may be disregarded, he added. Announcement of the new policy was made, he said, after all phases of the question had been considered.

German Prize Crew Put Into Santa Cruz With Men of 7 Other Ships.

Madrid, Feb. 24.—An official despatch from Santa Cruz, Tenerife, says:

"The steamship Westburn (British) entered this port for repairs, flying the German flag. She has a prize crew consisting of one officer and seven men on board, one of them wearing a cap with the inscription 'S. M. S. Moeben'."

"There are 296 prisoners aboard the Westburn. These were taken from the British vessels Flamingo, Horace, Clan MacTavish, Cambridge, Edinburgh and Belge, and from the Belgian vessel Luxembourg."

"Eleven Spanish sailors are also aboard the Westburn."

"The 'Moeben' is assumed to be the German raider 'Moewe', which captured the British liner Appam, now interned at Newport News."

TURKS QUITTING TREBIZOND

Russians Moving Rapidly in Attempt to Intercept Force.

London, Feb. 24.—According to special despatches from Petrograd the Turks are said to be evacuating Trebizond, the Russian advance along the Black sea having reached to within a single day's march of the port of Rizeh.

A considerable force of Turks from Erzerum is hastening toward Rizeh in the hope of finding the coast road open to Trebizond. The Russians are moving rapidly to cut off this force.

The only route now left open to the Turks retreating westward is to Kharput, the despatches say, from where they might strike southeastward and join the Turkish Bagdad forces by way of Diarbekr.

GERMANS TAKE 3000 ON BIG DRIVE

Crown Prince's Armies Within Eight Miles of Verdun.

BATTLE IS STILL RAGING

Berlin Reports Foes' Line in Woëvre Penetrated for Distance of Two Miles.

London, Feb. 24.—The Germans under the crown prince, in a great offensive, are driving for the great French fortress of Verdun, and already have succeeded in penetrating two miles into the French lines in the Woëvre region.

The drive resulting in this advance was along a ten-mile front. It had its impulse almost directly to the north of Verdun, where the Germans successively occupied the Haumont wood and the village itself, bringing them within eight miles of the fortress. Fighting of great violence continues. Paris records heavy German losses.

German troops continued their attacks during the night, the French war office announced. Infantry action was extended.

The Berlin war office statement says that in Upper Alsace the Germans captured a position 700 yards wide and 400 yards deep.

The war office announcing the drive in the northern sector of the Woëvre, said the allies lost more than 3000 prisoners and great quantities of material.

The text of the French statement follows: "In the Artois district we captured some trench sections in the forest of Gliweny."

"In the region to the north of Verdun a bombardment by the enemy energetically answered by us continued during the night. Infantry engagements have developed on a front of altogether about fifteen kilometers (ten miles)."

"The conflict continues with violence from the right bank of the Meuse to the southeast of Herbebois. We evacuated the village of Haumont, of which we still hold the outskirts, after a bloody conflict, our troops inflicting very heavy losses on the enemy."

"East of that point a counter attack permitted us to recapture the greater part of Causes Forest, located in the salient occupied by the enemy to the north of Beaumont."

"A strong German attack launched against Herbebois was sharply checked by our curtain of fire. According to the story of prisoners, certain German units were completely destroyed in these actions."

"A desultory artillery duel continues in the region of Hautecharriere and of Fromezey in Lorraine. In the region of Nomeny our artillery has been very active. An enemy reconnaissance to the north of Létricourt failed to reach our lines."

The text of the Berlin official statement follows:

"In the neighborhood of the trenches captured by our troops February 21 to the east of Souchez the positions of the enemy were considerably damaged by mining operations. The number of prisoners taken here was increased to eleven officers and 348 men. The booty consisted of three machine guns."

"In the Maas Hills, artillery duels continued with undiminished violence."

"East of the (Meuse) river we attacked a position which the enemy has been fortifying for one and a half years with all means of fortress construction in the neighborhood of the village of Consenvoye in order to maintain an embarrassing effect on our defense in the northern sector of the Woëvre."

"The attack was delivered on a front extending well over ten kilometers (six miles) and we penetrated as far as three kilometers into the enemy lines."

"Apart from considerable sanguinary losses, the enemy lost more than 3000 men in prisoners and great quantities of material, the extent of which cannot be yet estimated."

"In Upper Alsace our attack to the east of Heidweiler resulted in capturing an enemy position extending over a width of 700 meters and for a depth of 400 meters. About eighty prisoners were taken."

Explosion Kills Two Men.

Kane, Pa., Feb. 24.—Two men were killed and several had a narrow escape from death in an explosion which totally destroyed the nitroglycerine plant of the Aetna Explosive company at Emporium. The explosion, which was the third fatal explosion to occur at the plant since it was erected ten months ago, could be heard for miles, and windows were blown out of the adjoining buildings.

Woman Bitten by Snake; Kills It.

Thomasville, Ga., Feb. 24.—After being bitten by a large rattlesnake, Mrs. John F. Archibald, daughter-in-law of John D. BREWERS' OFFICIAL IS SENT TO JAIL

Hugh F. Fox is Arrested on Contempt Charge.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 24.—The climax of the dispute between the United States Brewers' association and the federal grand jury, regarding the giving of testimony in the probe of the books of the several brewing associations of the state, came to a head when Secretary Hugh F. Fox, of New York, was sent to jail by Judge W. H. H. Thomson for contempt of court in refusing to answer questions put to him by the federal body, and failing to produce the books that he was ordered to do on Monday, when he went back to New York, presumably to bring the necessary documents back with him. As the offense of contempt is not bailable, Mr. Fox is an occupant of a cell in the Allegheny county jail.

Another development came in the serving of subpoenas on James P. Mulvihill, vice president of the Independent Brewing company, of Pittsburgh, who was discovered in the federal building by Deputy Marshal Thomas B. Campbell and immediately served with the papers calling upon him to appear before the federal grand jury to testify.

APPEAL FOR DYNAMITERS

President Asked to Parole Fourteen Labor Leaders.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Appeals for the parole of fourteen of the labor leaders, serving sentences in Leavenworth penitentiary for their part in the so-called dynamite conspiracy, of which the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building was the climax, were laid before President Wilson by Senators Lewis, Clapp, Kern, Huston and Ransdell, and Representative Nolan, of California.

The fourteen men for whom they spoke are eligible under the law for parole, having served one-third of their sentences. Their cases have been heard by the parole board, which has taken no action. President Wilson said he would consider the request, and discuss it with Attorney General Gregory.

HINTS FOR BEGINNER IN SHEEP RAISING

A beginner, a young man who has never handled any sheep, wants to know how he should start in the business of raising lambs, says the National Stockman. If his farm and its owner are not adapted to sheep, if the locality is overrun with dogs, better not start at all. Successful sheep husbandry requires a farm not too low or wet and a man who is quiet and gentle among his animals.

Perhaps the best way this young man can start now is to buy a bunch of good straight, fine wool ewes, bred to a mutton buck, if he can locate such a flock. These are suggested because they are hardy and require less attention or expert care than the mutton breeds. They should be kept through the winter in good, healthy condition. They should be allowed to raise one lamb apiece and no more. The fine wool ewe is a good mutton lamb raiser when crossed with a ram of almost

"The Lincoln sheep originated in England and is large in size. It is not as heavy as formerly, either in carcass or fleece, but its quality has been improved by the refinement it has undergone through many years of careful breeding, making it a desirable sheep for mutton and wool and for the improvement of the common flocks. The sheep pictured are Lincolns."

any mutton breed, but as a rule she will not raise well more than one lamb.

At lambing time care for the ewes and the lambs. If any ewe loses her lamb get her to adopt a twin from some other ewe, which can usually be done by putting the hide of the dead lamb on the living one for awhile and sometimes by confining eye and lamb and seeing that the lamb suckles. Castor the buck lambs. Keep the lambs growing until ready for market by seeing that the ewes have enough to make milk and by feeding the lambs, too, when they need more than the mother's milk. Market them when they are fat, no matter when that is.

Always remember that a sheep will not eat or drink anything that is not fresh and clean. Breeding ewes must have fresh air and exercise. Never shut them in a warm barn or deprive them of exercise. Don't let them crowd through narrow doorways. Feed clover or alfalfa hay. Then a mixture of corn and oats is all right for grain. A little oilmeal will give a beginner something to do and think about too. This is a crude outline, but a trial of it may make a shepherd out of a beginner and a profit out of his flock.

Confidence.

The greatest success is confidence, or perfect understanding between sincere people.—Emerson.

GARDNER IS OUT FOR ROOSEVELT

Massachusetts Candidate For Convention Strong For T. R.

UPHOLDS HIS DEFENSE PLAN

Creator of Trouble For Stand Pat Republicans Asserts That to Support a Favorite Son is Equivalent to Being on the Fence—Republican Colleagues Shy at Indorsing Roosevelt Now.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Feb. 21.—(Special.)—When Augustus P. Gardner, a member of congress from Massachusetts, declared himself a candidate for delegate at large from that state to the Republican national convention upon an issue that he was for Roosevelt for president he created consternation among the Republicans of his state, particularly the Weeks men.

Gardner is a son-in-law of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. That has been both an asset and a handicap to him—an asset because it gave him a prominence he might not otherwise have had and a handicap because so many people contrast his progressive tendencies with those of the distinguished conservative senator from the old Bay State. Gardner succeeded William H. Moody in the house, and ever since he appeared in national public life he has shown a disposition to mix things up a bit.

Has Insurgent Proclivities.

Back in the days when Joe Cannon ruled the house with an iron hand Gardner became something of an insurgent, and he made a mighty lot of trouble for the small coteries that ran things. Then he became regular and is now a member of the committee on ways and means, his selection meaning that he has bucked the powers, beaten the powers and is supposed to be good while recognized as a part of the powers.

Shy on Indorsements.

"How do your Republican colleagues take your announcement and position in favor of Roosevelt?" I asked. "So far as I know, they have no expression which commends my position. The only bit that I hear is that the Republicans of the house really fear."

"They are for favorite sons," replied Gardner. "That is a convenient place to hide. It is next to being for nobody."

"How about the band wagon? Isn't there a lot of people who want to know who is to drive the band wagon and get aboard?"

"I presume so," replied Gardner. "I don't care anything about a band wagon. It is too crowded. Give me a nice roomy wagon even if I have to have it all to myself."

"Perhaps you have struck it?"

"That may be possible, but if so I will have a good time while taking my ride."

Four Years Ago.

"I have not talked with Roosevelt for four years," remarked Gardner. "I don't know anything about him except that he is right on the biggest issue before the American people. Four years ago I fought him as hard as I could in favor of Taft."

"That has always been a mystery to me," I remarked. "In view of Taft's Canadian reciprocity, which hit the sacred codfish of Gloucester so hard."

"I don't know just why it was," Gardner replied, "but I suppose I sided with Taft because my sympathies were aroused when Roosevelt kept landing blow after blow on that big punch. You know Congressman Kent of California says that the campaign cry of the Taft men was, 'Ouch! Ouch! Ouch!'"

The Gardner Idea.

"In the contest between Taft and Roosevelt four years ago," said Gardner, "Taft beat Roosevelt by 5,000 votes. Massachusetts is a conservative state. If Roosevelt can beat a favorite son in a conservative state like Massachusetts it will demonstrate that the people want him for president. That is a good test. If there was a primary election in every state Roosevelt would win, but for the most part conventions will enable the politicians to control when electing delegates."

Another Son-in-law.

There is a bond of sympathy between Gardner and Nick Longworth. The Ohio congressman is also a son-in-law. Recently the house was considering a bill to pension survivors of wars with Indians, and Longworth offered an amendment to include those who fought in the war against Mexico at Vera Cruz on the ground that Huerta was an Indian and the war was made on him. Longworth and Gardner have an idea of humor.

Long Time Ago.

Many young men and women who saw a civil war and reconstruction period moving picture show had to have explained to them what the Kuklux Klan was. In a recent pension bill debate Thomas of Kentucky proposed an amendment to pension numerous bodies in his state.

"Are you not willing to include the Kuklux in your amendment?" asked Oglesby of New York.

"Oh, you are forty years behind the times," retorted Thomas.

But in those days the Kuklux Klan was a mighty power in the south.

All the Difference.

It is a small thing to a man whether or not his neighbor be merciful to him; it is life or death to him whether or not he be merciful to his neighbor.

—George MacDonald.

CULINARY COMEDY.

One of the Trials of a Husband Whose Wife Can't Cook.

They were a newly married couple. The wife, though a fair cook, did not know how to make the things his mother had prepared. And this vexed the husband, although he was disposed to be indulgent for the sake of harmony. But there was one point upon which he sorrowed not a little. His wife could not make edible corn bread, and corn bread was the food upon which he was reared.

One day a girlhood friend of the wife came to her, after assisting in the preparation of luncheon, accepted an invitation to stay and eat with the new marrieds. The husband arrived, and the guest and he took their places at the table while the wife went to the kitchen to bring some forgotten dish.

Before his plate was the husband's corn bread, but it was a miserable failure—a sticky yellow, flat and heavy. He ate some confidentially.

"There is one of the trials of a husband whose wife can't cook," he said apologetically to the guest. "Just have a look at that corn bread. But you mustn't let the wife know what I said, for it would hurt her feelings."

When the wife entered the room a few moments later she noticed that a deep blush suffused the guest's face.

"Why, what is the matter, dear?" she asked.

"It's nothing," the guest replied hurriedly.

An hour later, after the husband had gone to the office, the chorus of two laughing women's voices merrily resounded through the household of the new marrieds.

But the wife has not yet told the husband that her guest made the corn bread on that day she stayed for lunch, in fact, asked for the privilege because she considered herself an adept at making corn bread.—Kansas City Star.

OUR YOUNG WOMEN are so often subject to headache—are languid, pale and nervous—because their blood is thin or insufficient. They are not really sick and hesitate to complain, but they lack that ambition and vivacity which is their birthright. They do not need drugs—but do need the tonic and nourishment in Scott's Emulsion that makes richer blood, fills hollow cheeks, suppresses nervousness and establishes strength. Nourishment alone makes blood and Scott's Emulsion is the essence of concentrated nourishment, free from wines, alcohols or opiates.

If mother or daughter is frail, pale or nervous, give her Scott's for one month and see the betterment. It has a wholesome, "nutty" flavor. Avoid substitutes. At any drug store.

HOW WIDE IS A ROAD?

Much Waste Land Upon Which Weeds Grow.

In the middle states a road is four rods wide—sixty-six feet—says the Country Gentleman. It is made so by decree of the government survey. Of course any man who is reasonably sober can drive a small automobile comfortably on a strip of land one rod wide. If two men are quite sober they can pass safely on one rod of road. Indeed, the makers of macadam for state roads rarely pretend to build roads more than eighteen feet wide, of which the marginal two feet may be counted for drainage.

A farm wagon is four feet eight inches wide from wheel to wheel—call it five feet for good measure. Add one foot for hubs, and still three such vehicles can be placed abreast in the eighteen foot road. In the four rod government highway with a little crowding, one dozen farm wagons could be set side by side in single track.

It sounds extravagant, and it is. Each mile of government roadway contains eight acres of land. Much of it is perfectly good land, capable of growing 500 bushels of corn to the mile. Confining one rod as enough for proper road uses, six acres in each mile are pure waste. Thousands of miles of the best highways in England, France and Germany are only one rod wide, but if that seems too stingy for your Uncle Samuel call it two rods for us, and we are still throwing away four acres on each mile. Multiply these figures for the state of Iowa by the 101,000 miles of public road and we have 416,000 acres of the best farming land in the world just wasted. In Kansas, where the same system prevails, the government surveyors have been able to divert 33,000 more acres from proper uses to nothing at all.

This unused space serves only to grow weeds. The roadsides are often the greatest weed museum in a good farming country. Each year they produce enough seed to keep the neighboring farms perpetually supplied. In some places, to be sure, the owners of adjoining fields take into their own hands the care of the roadsides. They mow the weeds. Sometimes they even grow hay in place of weeds and mow that. Occasionally one plows the idle roadside and plants it to corn along with the abutting field.

It isn't his land, to be sure, but ought it not to be? Some day we shall learn in America the simple lesson learned long ago in older lands—that when a road is wide enough to carry the traffic it need not be any wider. Then we can economize on road maintenance and convert to the uses of agriculture many thousands of acres now gloriously idle.

A Lot of New Things for the Up To-Date Buyer

Have You Seen the New AIR-O-LITE Lamp?

The Air-O-Lite is a wonderful table lamp, and more, for each lamp is furnished with a hanger. It is fine for the porch, the lawn party or the playground. It is practical for the workshop, barn or garage. It is a great emergency light for the store where regular lights fail at times. It is just the thing for the desk or some show case that needs brilliant lights. Then there is always some dark corner, some cellar or basement, little used and not lighted, to which the Air-O-Lite is quickly carried with ease and safety. It burns at any angle and will not blow out. It floods with light all dark places under counters, in corners and the deepest recesses of shelving.

Then We Have The AIR-O-LANTERN

This lantern makes night work easy. It supplies a great need. On the farm it is indispensable for the barn and for all the late work about the place. It is useful to hotels and livemen. It's what builders and contractors have been looking for. IT CAN'T BLOW OUT. THE AIR-O-LANTERN proves its worth best in time of storm. It is one great light not affected by wind, sleet or snow. It's the "Light that never fails".

Prices For Either Lamp or Lantern Only $6.50

ALIEN-BORN LOYAL WILSON IS SURE

Tells Hungarian Delegation He Never Doubted Them.

MISREPRESENTED BY SOME

Committee Presented Resolutions
Passed at Mass Meeting Urging Al
legiance to United States.

Washington, Feb. 24.—President Wilson told a committee of Hungarians he had never doubted the allegiance to the United States of the great proportion of foreign-born American citizens and that he recognized that they were just as much Americans as any one born in the United States.

Headed by Alexander Konta, of New York, the committee presented resolutions passed at a mass meeting of Hungarians in New York urging allegiance to the United States and declaring they had been slandered by attacks on their loyalty.

Mr. Konta told the president that the Hungarians in the United States were absolutely loyal to the nation of their adoption.

"You have thanked me for receiving you," said the president to the committee. "I do not deserve any thanks. It is a great pleasure to have received you and the privilege to have seen so many of you upon such an errand. I want to say that so far as my own feelings and opinion are concerned, this errand was unnecessary. I have never myself doubted for a moment the feeling that gentlemen such as yourselves have towards America. I recognize you as just as much Americans as anybody born in this country."

"I have deplored, and I am sure you have with me in deploring, the spirit which has been manifested by some who have misrepresented those for whom they professed to speak and my public protests have been against what they said and against their misrepresentations of what I felt sure was the sentiment of the rank and file of those Americans born on the other side of the water who have come and enriched America by giving her their talent and their work and their allegiance."

"So that I welcome this occasion as an opportunity of expressing my unqualified confidence in those thoughtful citizens like yourselves who have identified themselves in heart as well as in fortune with this great country which is so dear to all of us, which is compounded of all of us and which does not belong to any one section or portion of us. I have tried to show on various occasions my passion for that quality which ought to obtain among all those who profess allegiance to the United States."

"I feel highly complimented by this visit and I will not say reassured because I did not need the reassurance—but very much cheered by the message you have brought me."

In his address to the president Mr. Konta said:

"We have been misrepresented in a period of history which is full of misrepresentations, insinuations and downright slander. Your excellency's reception to us is proof that you believe in our loyalty."

"If we have protested, if in our hearts we shall continue to believe that in this terrible war our mother country has played a worthy role, our mass meeting in New York was first of all, what our appearance before your excellency is again, a public avowal of our unwavering loyalty to the country, to the flag and to our president."

PROHIBITION BILL REPORTED OUT, 5-4

Maryland House Committee
Favors Measure.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 24.—The House committee on temperance decided by a vote of five to four to report the state-wide prohibition bill favorably, without amendments.

When the bill was reported in the house the whole question was made the special order for next Tuesday at noon, on motion of Howard Bryant. Seven amendments were proposed in the committee by Mr. Shriver, and each in turn was defeated by a five-to-four vote.

Members who voted against the favorable report on the bill were all city men, namely, Messrs. Shriver, Degehard, Kelly and League. The amendments offered and rejected were as follows:

To exempt Baltimore city from the provisions of the bill.

To exempt Baltimore city and county.

To permit the sale of beer not exceeding four and a half per cent of alcohol.

To make it unlawful to sell coca-cola.

To make the sale of habit-forming drugs unlawful.

To strike out the enacting clause.

To permit the manufacture of spirits and fermented liquors.

Additional amendments will be offered by Baltimore city members when the bill comes up next Tuesday, chief among them being one to provide that Baltimore city shall vote on the question separately from the counties.

M. P. TRIES PEACE FEELER

Asquith Says War Will Last Until Tentons Are Beaten.

London, Feb. 24.—"There is no ground for hope of a decisive and crushing victory on either side in this war," declared Philip Snowden, laborer, in a speech in the house of commons.

Mr. Snowden's speech was made in an effort to force the government to make known on what terms it will make peace with Germany.

He received no encouragement from the premier. In an answering speech, Mr. Asquith said that the allies would not consider peace terms until victory was in sight and the central powers decisively beaten.

KILLS GIRL HE LUNCHES WITH

Man Then Ends His Own Life in Baltimore Restaurant.

Baltimore, Feb. 24.—Standing at the foot of the stairs leading to the second floor of a restaurant in Hopkins Place, conducted by Michael Ganzhorn, a man believed to be Arthur F. Willis, of this city, drew a revolver and shot a woman with whom he had just lunch.

He then shot himself in the head. Both died soon afterward.

It is said that they quarreled during the meal. The quarrel was renewed as they walked down the steps leading to the street. Ganzhorn told the police that he heard two shots and rushed to the doorway. As he arrived he saw the man shoot himself.

The man had a letter in his pocket signed by a woman named "Edith," who is supposed to be the one shot by him. Before she died she tried to tell her name. The police say it sounded like Willis or Willis. The man is said to have been married. From letters found in the man's clothes it is believed that the woman may have been Edith Mason, of Broadway, New York.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.

"THE MUFFIN MAN"

WHEAT MUFFINS.—Two cupful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of molasses, one egg and one cupful of milk. Mix the dry ingredients and sift twice rub in the butter. Separate the egg, beat the yolk and add it to the milk and molasses. Mix with the dry ingredients and stir until smooth. Pour in the beaten white of the egg and pour into hot, well greased muffin tins. Bake fifteen to twenty minutes in a hot oven.

Oatmeal Muffins.—Soak two cupfuls of rolled oats in one and one-half cupfuls of sour milk or buttermilk overnight. In the morning add one-fourth cupful of melted butter or lard, one well beaten egg and one cupful of flour sifted with one teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of baking soda. Bake in buttered pans in a hot oven for twenty minutes.

Cornmeal Muffins.—One cupful of flour, one cupful of cornmeal, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter or lard, one egg and one cupful of water. Beat the egg and mix the flour, meal and baking powder together. Add the salt and sugar; then the butter, the egg and lastly, stir in the water. Bake in muffin tins.

Date Muffins.—For date muffins take one-third cupful of cornmeal, one-fourth cupful of sugar, one beaten egg, three-fourths cupful of milk, two cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt and half a pound of dates seeded and chopped.

Corn Muffins With Dates.—Mix and sift one cupful of cornmeal, one cupful of white flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one tablespoonful of brown sugar; add one well beaten egg, one cupful of sweet milk, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and mix; then add one-half cupful of stoned and chopped dates. Bake in buttered and floured muffin pans in a hot oven.

Rye Muffins.—Sift one and one-half cupfuls of rye flour, one-half cupful of cornmeal, one-half teaspoonful of salt and three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder together. Beat two eggs until light and add one and one-fourth cupfuls of milk. Add this to the dry ingredients and mix well. Add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and pour into greased pans and bake in a quick oven about twenty-five minutes. Serve warm. This will make twelve muffins. If preferred the cornmeal may be omitted and all rye flour used.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open
Up Air Passages

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.

Peoples Drug Store guarantees it.

HOW TO GET RID OF CHRONIC DANDRUFF

The only sure way to get permanently rid of dandruff is to remove the conditions that cause it and then keep the hair and scalp in a clean, healthy, vigorous state so dandruff will never return. This beats shampoos, which merely remove the dandruff for a few days at most. The People's Drug Store are now strongly recommending Parisian Sage, a harmless, inexpensive and quick acting preparation, that is guaranteed to act directly on the cause of dandruff and entirely remove it or the purchase price will be cheerfully refunded.

Here is a test no one should fail to try. Get from your druggist a package of Parisian Sage. Rub a little of it into the scalp with the finger tips and see for yourself how the dandruff disappears, the hair stops falling out and all itching immediately ceases. Nothing hurts the hair more than dandruff, so why not begin using Parisian Sage today and be forever rid of it?

IS YOUR STOMACH CLOGGED WITH WASTE?

The People's Drug Store Guarantees To Return the Money if Mi-o-na Does Not Relieve You

"It's a pleasure to sell a medicine when our customers come in afterward and tell us how much good it has done them," said C. Wm. Reales, the popular druggist to a Gettysburg man, "and that is why we like to sell and recommend Mi-o-na, the dyspepsia remedy. We have so much faith in this article that we are going to guarantee it in the future, and will return the money to any purchaser of Mi-o-na whom it does not help. That may seem rash but our customers have said so many good words in its favor that we do not expect to have many packages returned."

"Anyone who has dyspepsia, whose food does not digest well, and who has to take thought as to what he can eat, and when, can leave 50 cents deposit at our drug store and take home a box of Mi-o-na and if the remedy does not regulate his digestion and help his dyspepsia he can withdraw his money."

This shows great faith in the merit of Mi-o-na. It is really a most unusual medicine and the rapid increase of sales since The People's Drug Store introduced it in Gettysburg shows that it does all that it is claimed to do—relieves dyspepsia, regulates digestion and enables those who use it to eat just what they want.

Medical Advertising "TIZ" EASES TIRED, SORE, SWOLLEN FEET

Instant relief for aching, puffed-up, calloused feet and corns.

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet?

"Tiz" makes your feet glow with comfort; takes down swellings and draws the soreness and misery right out of feet that chafe, smart and burn. "Tiz" instantly stops pain in corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is glorious for tired, aching, sore feet. No more shoe tightness—no more foot torture.

Medical Advertising WHAT'S THE REASON

Many Gettysburg People in Poor Health Without Knowing the Cause.

There are scores of people who drag out a miserable existence without realizing the cause of their suffering. Day after day they are racked with backache and headache; suffer from nervousness, dizziness, weakness, languor and depression. Perhaps the kidneys have fallen behind in their work of filtering the blood and that may be the root of the trouble. Look to your kidneys, assist them in their work—give them the help they need. You can use no more highly recommended remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills—endorsed by people all over the country and by your neighbors in Gettysburg.

D. F. Arendt, Fourth St., Gettysburg, says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family and don't think there is any other kidney remedy quite as good. I suffered from kidney trouble for years. I had pains across the small of my back and in my sides and had to get up at night on account of kidney weakness. Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of all these troubles."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Arendt had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Opportunities That Will Not Come Again For Another Season and May Not Be Possible Then

This Great COAT, SUIT and FUR Sale Now On

Will positively end MARCH 1st. All goods remaining, if any, will have to be packed in moth balls and set out of the way to be shipped to the City Auction next Fall—for the reason that we need the room for the showing of our Complete Stocks of our Spring Ready to Wearables. Besides we do not wish to mix seasons.

The very Drastic Price Reductions put on all Winter Coats, Suits, and Furs—and advertised as the last call etc. beginning a week ago, has brought wonderful response—and incidentally has added to our faith in newspaper advertising. Many women have availed themselves of an opportunity to buy an additional COAT or SUIT or that set of Furs they have been wanting all Winter and did not see their way clear to get at regular prices—at the extremely low prices now.

Note—We are informed by manufacturers that next Fall prices on all Woolens will be 40 to 50 per cent higher than last fall which adds greatly to the value and which should make our Last Call Prices of still greater interest. As there were several hundred garments in the several lines when the sale started, choosing will be fairly good for several days more. However, if you delay, your size may not be there in style you want. Here is the interesting part of the story. We haven't room for description.

Cord-u-roys and mixed cloths, mostly Woolltex. Fall 1915. were from $10.75 to $18.75
Now $4.90

Black and Navy Cloths of various weaves. Many fur trimmed, Fall 1915. Were $12.50 to $16.50. Now $6.90

Black Navy Montagnacs, Pompador Cloths, Fur fabrics, etc. Fall 1915. Were $18.75 to $25.00 Now $9.90

Many Other Lower Prices Of Equal Value

About 60 heavy Coats in mixtures—were invoiced at one fourth cost and less, were $10.00 to $20.00. Your Choice $2, $3, $4.

Children's and Misses' Coats

Sizes 6 to 14 years. Splendid qualities, good styles, at $1.00, $1.50, $2.00. Were more than double present prices.

About 20 Tailored Suits Left in various colors and cloths. Were $15.00 to $25.00. NOW $4.90 to $9.90.

All FURS at 1-2 price, 1-2 price.

BULLETS IN FLIGHT

Even the Best Aimed Ones Never Follow Their Noses.

STRIKE A WEE BIT SIDEWAYS.

The Projectile Travels on a Curve, of Course, and It Keeps Its Axis Always in the Direction the Axis Had When the Ball Left the Gun.

It is a well known fact that a bullet never goes straight to a mark, but flies in a curve on the order of the parabola. But most people think that the bullet itself follows its nose and that at first (when the nose is pointed up) the bullet follows it and that when the bullet is coming down on the other leg of the curve the nose is pointed down.

This is a mistake, for the nose of a bullet always maintains its own direction, no matter what the bullet as a whole tries to do. That is, if a gun be pointed slightly up, the bullet, when it strikes the target, will not enter it perpendicularly by the nose, and the hole made will be larger than the bullet is round, for the bullet of necessity must hit in a certain degree flatwise. Of course the reason the bullet does this is because it has a very rapid rotation given it by the rifles in the barrel, which keeps it also from turning over and over in the air.

Another thing that will seem peculiar to most people is the action of gravity on a bullet. If a gun be fired exactly horizontally the bullet will have to be pulled down by gravity exactly sixteen feet during the first second. So if there were no sights on a gun and it was leveled by means of a hand level and fired the bullet would hit something exactly sixteen feet below the gun at a distance away equal to the velocity of the bullet per second.

No matter what the bullet's velocity, gravity will pull it down sixteen feet during the first second, or if the bullet be fired upward gravity will take from its upward velocity thirty-two feet during the first second.

The bullet itself keeps its axis always in the direction the axis had when the bullet issued from the gun. This is the well known gyroscopic principle made use of in the gyroscopic compass and the monorail car—that a rotating body will maintain its axis of rotation in the same direction unless a moment of force be applied to it.

But what actually happens with the modern high powered rifle? Does it shoot a bullet that goes in sideways?

To a slight extent it may be stated that the modern army bullet does do that very thing. Its velocity, however, is so enormous that the gun barrel does not have to be elevated through so large an angle, and consequently the bullet enters fairly on its nose, though not squarely so, at all ordinary ranges.

The same may be said of the blitzer guns. They have rifling in them and so give rotation and gyroscopic action to the projectiles. But a mortar does not. A mortar shoots something almost straight up in the air and lets it fall down. As the mortar is 100 short barreled to be rifled the top of the projectile would hit a target a long distance away, but for a shot almost straight up in the air to fall right down of course the bottom of the projectile would strike first. The mortar projectiles are generally round, so that it will not matter how they strike.

The reason a bullet cannot be made so that it will always enter a target squarely on its nose is that for every range a differently shaped bullet would have to be manufactured; also the bullet should be symmetrical, so that the air will exert no disturbing influence on its distorted parts.

A bullet has a distinct curve like that of a baseball, due to its rotation, and this curve is independent of the parabola given by gravity. The smoother and more polished a bullet is the less is this curve. But the action of the rifling in a gun barrel puts little grooves in the bullet as it goes through the barrel. These catch the air as the bullet rotates and causes the curve spoken of.

If the bullet be rotated in the direction of the hands of a clock the curve will make the bullet go to the left of the exact point aimed at. The effect is so small, however, that it does not have to be taken into account in the manufacture of rifles and ammunition.

Saloniki.

The Greek seaport, Saloniki, is the same as the old Thessalonica that was visited by the Apostle Paul in 51 A. D. and to which were sent the two epistles, First and Second Thessalonians, in the New Testament. The original name of Saloniki was Therna or City of Hot Springs. Then Thessalonica, so called after the sister of Alexander the Great, and then shortened and made Turkish into Saloniki.

Finger Marks.

Furniture has a bad habit of getting finger marked. And it is a good thing to know that sweet oil will remove all signs of them if the furniture is of the varnished variety. But kerosene is better for furniture which is oiled or waxed.

Deaths From Preventable Diseases.

Statistics tell us that 650,000 lives are destroyed annually in the United States by diseases of the preventable class. The annual economic loss from this source is estimated at $1,500,000,000, or six times the amount of our fire loss.
